'Big Splash' as Youngsters Practise for Lake Swim

It was practice night Tuesday at Beaver-Elk Lake for the two-mile swim coming up Sept. 5. Youngsters were taken half way out, swam back to shore. Practices are held Tuesday and Thursday nights, starting at 7. In main swim itself, participants will wear white bathing caps, which will correspond with numbers on ac-

200,000 See Spectacular PNE Parade

VANCOUVER, Aug. 24 (BUP)—The most spectacular Pacific National Exhibition parade in Vancouver's history drew an estimated 200,000 onlookers here today.

The huge crowd jammed downtown sidewalks and hung from office windows to see the 3 1/2-mile trek to Exhibition Park.

The parade comprised 5,000 marchers, 32 bands and 33 floats. The crowd applauded navy, army and air force units, as well as a contingent from the United States army. Terrific applause was accorded the float from Pentecost depicting the world hockey championship V's and there were cheers for members of the B.C. Lions football team who rode in convertibles.

At the saluting base at Post Office corner, were civic and PNE officials, senior officers from the three armed services and officers from the United States forces.

CALYPSO RHYTHMS

A highlight of the parade was a famed calypso band from Trinidad, beating out their rhythms on oil drums.

Crowds later streamed by the thousand into the fair grounds, to see what officials described as "the biggest fair in B.C. history."

The 45th PNE, expected to attract 900,000 visitors before it concludes Sept. 5, was to be officially opened this afternoon by external affairs minister Lester B. Pearson.

HMCS New Glasgow Due Home Thursday

The frigate HMCS New Glasgow is due back at Esquimalt at 7 a.m. Thursday, following a cruise to Pearl Harbor where she worked with units of the U.S. Pacific fleet.

New Glasgow had been scheduled to relieve the destroyer HMCS Sioux, sole Canadian ship in the Far East, until plans were altered on instruction of the Department of External Affairs.

Egypt Quits Talks

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Egypt today angrily announced her withdrawal from the United Nations-sponsored talks with Israel, aimed at pacifying the embattled frontier area of the Gaza strip.

Thousands Terrorized By Gun-Crazy Airman

Killing of Three Makes Shambles Of English Beach Before Suicide

MANSTON, Kent, Eng. (Reuters)—Thousands of terrified sunbathers today saw a berserk American airman shoot himself to death on a beach near here after he killed a British and two American airmen.

The crazed man, identified by British police as Napoleon Green, a Negro, 36, was cornered before he was cornered against a rocky cliff towering above Broadstairs beach in a dramatic gun battle.

Two U.S. Air Force police opened fire at 100 yards distance when Green refused to surrender. The fugitive, armed with a rifle and a revolver, fired back.

Silence suddenly returned to the sunlit beach contrasting with the whine of bullets, echoed back from the cliffs. Caustically, the two armed American military police and a British policeman, who was unarmed as is customary, inched forward toward a clump of rocks at the foot of the cliff.

They found their quarry dead. At first U.S. authorities reported Green had been killed by the military police. They later agreed with the British version that the wounded airman had turned one of his guns on himself.

All the dead and injured victims of the berserk airman were shot before he raced out of the U.S. air base here in an automobile and headed for the southeast coast resort of Broadstairs a few miles away.

The entire three-mile expanse of beach between Broadstairs and Margate in Kent east of London was cordoned off for the manhunt. Vacationers were warned to get out of the sea and stand well back from the cliffs.

Thousands of Britons peered down from the chalk cliffs to watch the gun battle. Hundreds of others, trapped on the beach, fled from the scene.

Within a short while, however, the sun bathers returned to their deckchairs which had been toppled over in the chase. Children resumed building sand castles, wading and swimming, and the beach returned to its summer serenity.

Col. H. B. Manson, commander of the Manston base, led the manhunt. Every airman on his

DEEP SOUTH DISCOLORS ITS WAVES

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—

A white cab driver was fined $5 for parking his vehicle in a restricted area, allowing a Negro service-woman to ride in his taxi with several white servicewomen.

Police said they saw several WAVES, one of them a Negro, riding together in the cab.

Pat Russell To Try Strait Tomorrow

Vancouver's pet Pat Russell plans her second attempt at Juan de Fuca Strait for 12:30 p.m. Thursday from Gonzales Point.

She will be the first, weather permitting, of six swimmers hoping to make tries this weekend or before the end of August.

Pat, 18-year-old UBC student, made her first try June 3, and swam 9 1/2 miles toward Port Angeles before she was pulled from the water exhausted.

Tuesday she completed a three and a half hour swim in Oak and Cadboro Bays, the last of her heavy practices.

Janice White, 19, Toronto, said Tuesday night she would like to make her third attempt Saturday. Others in the August swim are Bob Bowden, Johnny Flower, Bill Muir and Douglas Rivette, all of whom have made at least one try, with the exception of Flower.

WIFE LOWERS BOOM

Auto Striker Gets Locked Out

CHICAGO (AP)—An enraged housewife has threatened to divorce her idle husband if his company is forced to go out of business because of a strike.

Mrs. Esther Quigley, 35, said in an interview she issued the ultimatum to her husband, Andrew, a steward for Local 1214 of the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) representing 450 employees of the Harrison Sheet Steel Co.

She said today: "If the company closes its doors permanently, I'll close my doors permanently."

Mrs. Quigley said she has organized a group of 45 women seeking to end the strike.

She already has locked her 220-pound husband out of their

Cloud-Seeder Says Hurricanes Can Be Steered

Early Experiment Caused Damage Of $5 Million

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UP)—

Dr. Irving Langmuir, pioneer cloud seeder, said today he is confident that experimentation with dry ice seedling could completely eliminate such hurricanes as Connie and Diane.

Langmuir said the armed forces apparently changed the course of a 1947 hurricane with $7.20 worth of dry ice. He said they were so frightened by the result they never dared try it again.

That hurricane, whether by nature or mis-fired experiment, immediately changed course and caused some $5,000,000 damage in Savannah, Ga., Langmuir said.

But he said he believed that if that hadn't caused cancellation of the test continued experimentation would almost surely have prevented this year's hurricane catastrophes.

Langmuir is a General Electric Company research consultant, Nobel Prize winner and a father of dry-ice rainmaking.

Strike Hits Fruit Crop In Okanagan

Investigator Says He Was Whelan's Friend

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Examples of typing from two typewriters on which ex-RCMP sergeant Terry Parsloe wrote a secret report in 1950 clearing police chief Walter H. Mulligan of graft charges were submitted today to the Royal Commission inquiry into the Vancouver police department.

The samples were submitted for examination by RCMP counterfeited experts after lawyer Neil Fleishman, counsel for Flash magazine, demanded the samples be produced following his suggestion that Parsloe did not write the report. Parsloe had denied this.

Continuing his testimony today, Parsloe said, "I have thought it over very carefully and I think I typed the report on my office machine."

Studying the samples, Fleishman said, "I ask that Parsloe's report as well as his typed expense sheet for the investigation be examined by RCMP experts."

"VERY GOOD FRIEND"—Parsloe said he was "a very good friend" of police superintendent Harry Whelan, who died August 5 a few hours before he was to testify before royal commissioner R. H. Tupper.

Questioned further by Fleishman about a section of his report reading, "I have worked with a number of underworld contacts over a period of years," Parsloe said he still could not recall the name of a single one of them.

Parsloe also admitted he failed to report on his income tax returns the money he received for the investigation. "I got $1,700 for that report and I paid out about $700," Parsloe said. "That left me with $1,000. I did not declare that in my income tax report."

Breakdown in Talks Revealed By Wicks; Work Stops Thursday

Last-ditch negotiations—including personal intervention by Premier Bennett—aimed at halting a strike of 3,000 fruit packing-house workers in B.C.'s Okanagan Valley broke down in Victoria today, and a strike is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks announced the collapse of truce talks at noon, following a series of morning meetings with representatives of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, and the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union (AFL-TLC).

"The parties have agreed to disagree," said Mr. Wicks.

30 PLANTS IDLED—The strike will idle 30 packing houses, and hit 3,500 Okanagan Valley fruit growers at the height of their soft-fruit harvesting operations.

Mr. Wicks said the two parties reached a compromise on five of six points in the months-long dispute during talks in his office.

However, the union is reported to have stood firm on its demand for a 10-cent an hour across-the-board wage increase.

PREMIER REBUFFED—In a meeting in Premier Bennett's office, the union turned down the premier's suggestion that he appoint an arbitrator to settle the dispute.

"They have gone their separate ways, and the strike is scheduled to start at eight in the morning," said the labor minister. He added that the government "will be available at all times" if the two parties want to resume negotiations.

A. B. Carrish of Oliver, in the southern Okanagan, spokesman for the Fruit Growers' Association, has stated the union will be charged with "violation of contracts" if the walk-out takes place.

Potatoes Up—KELOWNA (CP)—Officials of the interior vegetable marketing board have announced an increase in the price of potatoes, effective last Monday. The price of potatoes has been raised $9 a ton to a selling price of $35 a ton.

Faure Faces Revolt Over Morocco Riot

Right-Wingers Want Parliament Called

PARIS (UP)—Rightwing members of Premier Edgar Faure's parliament majority revolted today and demanded that he call parliament back from its recess to consider the bloody uprisings in French North Africa.

The emergency recall of the national assembly was demanded after Faure had flown here from urgent conferences at Aix-Les-Bains with Moroccan political leaders and members of his cabinet.

The rebellious deputies, who fear Faure will make too many concessions to Moroccan Nationalists, claim to control 208 deputies in Faure's coalition.

Their defection could shake and even topple his six-month-old government.

Mr. Faure, who has called up 60,000 reserves to help stem the bloody North African outbreaks which have cost more than 1,700 lives in Morocco and Algeria.

Faure will discuss the North African situation with French military leaders before returning to Aix-Les-Bains tonight.

Interior Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury today recommended that Faure send six new battalions to Algeria, extend the state of emergency to the whole country and better arm the police there.

35 STATES, NINE PROVINCES

Record Registration For Convention Here

The annual convention of the National Association of Securities Administrators which takes place in Victoria and Vancouver next week has drawn the largest registration in the 38-year history of the association.

J. Stewart Smith, B.C. superintendent of brokers, who is convention chairman, said today the registration has reached a total of 450 for the Vancouver meetings Monday and Tuesday, with 400 coming to Victoria for Thursday and Friday meetings. This includes wives of delegates.

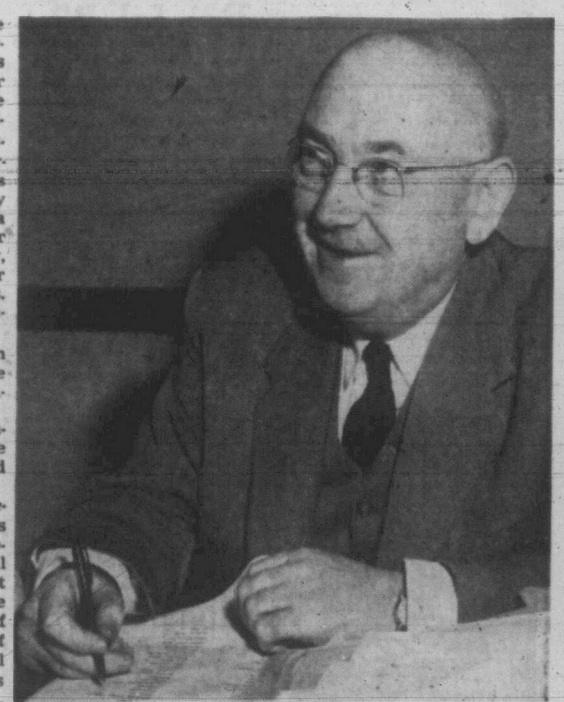

"The representatives seem very keen to come out and see what we have on Canada's Pacific coast," Mr. Smith said.

It is the first time the convention has ever been held outside the United States, and the third time on the west coast.

Delegates will represent securities administration branches of 35 of the United States, provincial securities heads of all Canadian provinces except Prince Edward Island, and the federal securities authorities of both countries, besides some of the continent's most influential financial houses and legal firms dealing in "blue sky" legislation.

The convention opens in Vancouver Monday for two days. Delegates then cross to Victoria by special boat to complete their deliberations in two days of meetings at Empress Hotel.

Some of the notables scheduled to address various functions during the convention are W. A. Schmidt, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America; Don Eastwood, Attorney-General of Washington State; Edward T. McCormick,

J. STEWART SMITH... chairman

president of the American Stock Exchange, and W. P. J. O'Meara, assistant undersecretary of state for Canada.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, and Premier W. A. C. Bennett will address delegates during the Vancouver and Victoria sessions, respectively.

C. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, will make the major address here on Thursday, September 1.

Highlight of the important convention will be the presentation of a draft Uniform Securities Act, prepared by Professor Louis Loss, of the Harvard Law School.

While in Victoria, the delegates will hold an open forum on the draft legislation, which was two years in preparation.

MOUNTIE TO ADD RED DAB TO MOSCOW SCENE?

OTTAWA (CP) — An RCMP officer may accompany External Affairs Minister Pearson to Russia when he visits that country this fall.

External affairs officials are considering this, an informant said today, but no decision has been reached on any of the personnel going with the minister. Mr. Pearson will decide when he returns to Ottawa early next month. He is in Vancouver today to open the Pacific National Exhibition.

Purpose of taking a Mountie along, the informant said, would be chiefly to co-operate with Russian authorities on security arrangements. He might also give the Russians their first glimpse of the RCMP's colorful garb, but whether he would be uniformed would be up to the minister.

NO BARBECUE—NO BALL

Royalty Bewildered By Birthday Stories

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Buckingham Palace today expressed puzzlement about the big ball-and-barbecue mystery—the celebrations that were reported to have lit up Balmoral Castle like a Christmas tree Monday night in connection with Princess Margaret's 25th birthday.

The Royal Family and their guests dined quietly and went to bed early, said Diana Lytton, assistant press secretary at Buckingham Palace.

"There was no barbecue, no ball, no party and no celebrations. Nothing of the kind had been planned."

The BBC, British newspapers and domestic and foreign news agencies had it otherwise, with some publishing detailed information about barons of beef, especially selected by the Duke of Edinburgh on the hoof, torch-waving servants and a gay ball to the tune of Highland pipes.

PUZZLED BY STORIES

"I don't know how these stories got out," said Miss Lytton. "There was a belated birthday party for Princess Anne (five on Aug. 15) in the afternoon. Then, after her friends had gone home, the Royal Family dined quietly and spent the evening in recreation. They went to bed early."

The Daily Telegraph and the Manchester Guardian were two newspapers whose reports conformed to the palace's. The Times said there was a beef dinner and ball.

The Daily Mail and The Sketch, both of which played up the festivities that apparently never were, comment on the discrepancies.

The Sketch says: "There was so much secrecy about the arrangements, so much hush-hush, so much mystery you would have thought it was a wartime security operation.

Reporters trying to report the events at Balmoral almost needed to carry periscopes to see what was going on.

"If... someone... had gone north with the royal party to see that the newspapers were given accurate information, this nonsense would never have occurred."

The Daily Mail publishes a note by its reporter on the scene Monday evening outside the royal family's Scottish summer home, set in fir trees and surrounded by hills.

NO ONE TO DENY

"With other reporters I saw the lights in the grounds of the castle, a steady glow near the marquee on the lawn."

"The barbecue, if there was to be a barbecue, was about due. This was it. There are no press facilities at all at Balmoral. There was no one to tell us yes or no."

Balmoral drew scores of British and foreign reporters during the week-end.

The drawing card presumably was Princess Margaret's birthday, which occurred Sunday. Some newspapers have been playing up the fact that after she is 25 the princess will be able to put in motion, if she desires, constitutional procedure which would enable her to marry without the consent of the Queen. Either the House of Lords or the House of Commons would have to consent to it first.

Sue Ann Lomas, 14, 1120 Jackson, was treated at St. Joseph's hospital for facial and hand abrasions Tuesday after being knocked down by a bicycle while walking along Somerset at about 2 p.m.

Police said Alan Thom, 10, of 3048 Jackson, was riding the bike.

GEORGE IS BURNING

Quaint? Yes! Slow? No Sir!

Victoria's publicity commiserator George I. Warren, who believes in exploiting the city's little-bit-of-old-England legend to the hilt, doesn't mind people calling Victoria quaint but doesn't like it when they say the city is slow.

Since a Chicago magazine, Trailer Topics, has committed this very offence in its latest issue, Mr. Warren has sent the publishers a letter, setting them straight in this regard.

The magazine, in a travel article, accused Victoria of having "old-fashioned gas lamps" and alleged "people in Victoria walk like pallbearers and drive their cars like hearses."

The publicity chief's way of correcting this impression is to suggest to those spreading the story that they visit here and see for themselves what Victoria is like.

A building permit for a concrete block bank structure to cost $17,000 has been issued at city hall.

The permit calls for erection of the building at 493 Superior for the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

A permit for $27,500 has also been issued for Eaton's, covering changes in walls and ground floors.

NO SQUARE, HE SHOT HIS MOTHER

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP)—"The kids at school kept calling me a square because I wouldn't steal anything. I didn't want to be a sissy. I was tired of being a square." And so, sheriff's deputies said Tuesday, 13-year-old Jimmy Thomson loaded his rifle, hid it under a bed, waited two hours for his mother, Mrs. Hilda Thomson, 51, to come home—and shot her to death.

No Sir!...Ain't nothin' finer than that silky-smooth VARIABLE PITCH DYNAFLOW!

(AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION)

That's a mighty powerful statement. But then, Buick's a mighty powerful car... with an elegant appearance, luxurious roadside manners, and the sweetest motion this side of heaven.

And Buick's traditional roadability and performance are even more exciting with the unbeatable thrills of Variable Pitch Dynaflo® automatic transmission.

To forget our manners for a moment and talk business, here's why Dynaflo is the finest automatic transmission you can drive.

Inside the Dynaflo unit are twenty propeller-like blades. When you hold your foot on the gas pedal in the normal way, they spin at their high-economy angle—and you enjoy many more miles from every tankful of gas. But when the need arises, you simply press way down—and you switch the pitch of these blades for high performance.

Instantly you're off and away. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration, in a safety-surge of forward momentum that's thrilling beyond all previous motoring experience.

It's an unforgettable thrill—from the finest automatic transmission in the industry.

Drive a Buick soon. You're bound to agree that Dynaflo is really something to sing about.

TRIO OF LONG-TIME SCOUTERS got together at World Jamboree now underway at Niagara-on-the-Lake when Lady Baden-Powell, widow of scout founder, met with Timesman Freeman King, centre, 48 years a scout.

At meeting also was Lord Rowallan, Empire's chief scout. They talked about previous get-togethers, shared laughs over familiar scouting associations. Chief asked King about Stetson left here on previous visit.

CUBANS STEAL SHOW AT JAMBOREE

10,000 See Latin Americans Reconstruct Revelry in Havana

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Fiesta reigned amid exploding fireworks as the Cuban boy scouts portrayed Havana on a Saturday night.

Ten thousand scouts and relatives crowded the World Scout Jamboree arena Tuesday night to watch the Cuban dancers, their accompaniment beaten lively on native instruments by a walking orchestra, weave a pulsating series of dances that transported Cuba's Spanish-Negro - aboriginal atmosphere to Canada.

FEDERAL AID HELPS SCOUTS BREAK EVEN

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—There'll be no red ink in the books of the eighth World Scout Jamboree even though the $400,000 undertaking has collected only $334,780 in Scout registration fees of $30 apiece.

"We'll come out all right, financially," chief executive commissioner Fred Finlay forecasts.

The deficit is covered by a federal grant of $50,000, plus inculcable help in camp engineering and stores, and by Ontario's $25,000 contribution.

Scouts Help Rescue Women Trapped in Car

Plunges 75 Feet Into Ont. River

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (CP)—An automobile plunged 75 feet into the Niagara river Tuesday night but its four women occupants survived.

Boy scouts from the nearby site of the World Scout Jamboree joined in the successful rescue efforts.

Police identified the women as Shirley Mann, 29, Mrs. Craig Melinbacher, Carol Martin, 26, and Blaine Barnes, 20, all of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Investigators said that, while the driver, Miss Mann, was looking for a parking place off the parkway boulevard between Fort George and Niagara-on-the-Lake, the car went over a bump. Miss Mann's foot slipped on the accelerator and the car headed for the river, 75 feet below.

Mrs. Melinbacher, wife of an Ontario provincial police constable, jumped out of the car, and grabbed a shrub. She managed to cling to it until help arrived.

Miss Mann, Miss Martin and Miss Barnes remained in the car and plunged with it over the sheer drop into the river. The vehicle landed in relatively shallow water and came to rest with its top out of water.

Meanwhile, scout Bruce Torwell of Toronto, who had seen the mishap from the cliffs, summoned a driver and ambulances.

Provincial constable Charles Wheatman lowered himself down a rope, followed by two scouts, and the three helped the women from the partly-submerged vehicle onto a launch which was cruising nearby.

All four women were taken to Niagara - on - the - Lake Hospital. Their condition later was declared satisfactory.

U.K. Unlocks Atomic Doors

Scientists, Including Communists, See Secret Research at Harwell

HARWELL, England (Reuters)—Britain today threw open the closely-guarded doors of its atomic energy research centre here to the world's leading nuclear scientists.

Physicists, chemists, geneticists, doctors, mineralogists and engineers from more than 30 countries—including Russia and Communist Czechoslovakia, Romania and Poland—converged on this Berkshire town to see the heart of Britain's secret research into nuclear fission.

It was the first peek for scientists—other than those from the United States and the British Commonwealth—beyond the strong forces of guards and a ring of electrified fences around the famed Harwell centre.

The Soviet scientists were led by Prof. Dimitri Elokhitsev, scientific director of Russia's first atomic electric power plant near Moscow. They flew here with other European delegates from Geneva, where scientists from 72 countries recently ended a 12-day atom-for-peace conference.

Cameras were not allowed inside the centre. Press photographers were barred from passing the inner security fence and all delegates were asked to deposit cameras with security guards at the entrance.

Sir John Cockcroft, the centre's director, welcomed the scientists.

The tour schedule called for the scientists to be shown some of the latest technical and research work being carried on in atomic piles, as well as the latest research in the chemical, physics, electronics, isotopes and metallurgical divisions.

'Fair But Aggressive'

THE CANADIAN FARMER already has felt the impact of American wheat dumped on the world market. Now he begins to feel the impact of American barley as the United States unloads an agricultural surplus resulting from its price support system.

Mr. Benson, American secretary of agriculture, may say that his Government intends to compete "fairly but aggressively." It is hard to imagine anything more unfair than the latest version of the dumping program.

Britain has been a large and traditional market for Canadian barley, buying at the competitive world price. Now it is securing American barley far below that level, simply because the United States buys up the farmer's crop at a high price and sells it abroad for a much lower price at the cost of the taxpayers. Consequently, Britain has begun to buy barley from the United States instead of Canada. We cannot compete with the cut-rate and subsidized American exports.

This switch of Britain's trade may prove a serious blow to the farm economy of Canada. Largely excluded from the American market by quota import restrictions, the Canadian barley grower has lately found a large alternative market in Britain. Without increased sales there in the last crop year, he would have suffered gravely. Britain's purchases largely replaced lost markets not only in the United States but in Germany, Japan and Belgium. What Mr. Benson calls fair but aggressive competition threatens to drive our barley out of Britain as it has already undermined our wheat sales in many countries.

All this may seem to be good short-run business for the United States. It is certainly bad long-run business. For Canada's ability to buy in the United States, and to remain by far the largest customer in the world for American goods of all sorts, depends upon its ability to sell in the United States.

For example, every single dollar earned from the sale of Canadian barley in the American market finds its way back to the United States without delay. If we earn less American dollars by selling barley or other things in the American or the world market we shall spend less in the United States.

The American exporter of manufactured goods thus has a large indirect stake in his Government's policy of dumping agricultural products, but apparently does not fully realize it. No one in the United States seems to be disturbed by the fire sale of American farmstuffs, even though they damage American customers like Canada and cost the public treasury huge amounts.

But as the consequences of this process become clear our good neighbors will regret them. And they need not be surprised if their policy, pressed too far, produces some form of retaliation.

Peeking Over the Fence

THE SEEDS OF A VERY GREAT book must lie in the inner story of the visit of a party of Russians to the United States and Canada to study farming methods. Much will be written, of course, in the visitors' reports of their observations in the mid-west corn and hog country and, later this month, on the Canadian prairies.

But a still more dramatic story must lie in the inner personal thoughts of these men as they see beyond their communist-bounded dreams.

They have come, no doubt, from farming communities themselves. For as long as they can remember, if they are in the middle years, they have known farming to be a matter of collectives.

The state owns the land. Those who work it may have the right to a tiny plot around their two or three-roomed house. As a population they own the land and such machinery as they have to use; but as individuals they are state-controlled peasants, as surely as their predecessors were controlled by the czars. Their clothes and personal possessions are of the minimum. More important, they have no hope of their situation ever being changed.

Now, used to such an environment, a group of men are transported to the United States. They visit farms of hundreds of acres, owned and worked by only one family. They see abundant power-driven machinery to handle all manner of crops on a mass production basis. They see the comfortable homes, the trucks, station wagons and private cars of the farmers.

They see the farmers' well-dressed families, they enjoy the friendliness and hospitality of the people, dance with the college-educated daughters. And they cannot fall to see, over everything, the free and independent spirit that prevails, the sense of personal independence of the man whose home is his castle.

They will realize, of course, that all American farmers are not rich. They will not overlook the anomalies in the system—the handling of surplus crops, the guaranteed prices and other props. But they cannot escape the conclusion that here, without benefit of communism, fewer workers are producing more foodstuffs with less regimentation than the Soviet can possibly accomplish—and doing it with greater freedom and more personal rights and privileges than are to be found within the borders of Russia.

The visitors will read this economic and sociological lesson, which contrasts theories of Marx and Lenin with the facts of free enterprise. But beyond the dialectic and the textbook proofs will lie the Russians' personal reactions.

Which of them, viewing this great open land, with its freedom to travel, its freedom of speech and criticism, its health and general pleasantness of existence—which of them, seeing this, can return unchanged to his totalitarian land? No matter how strict their training has been, no matter how machine-like their mental obedience, they surely will not escape a twinge of envy, of longing for a better ordering of affairs in their own country, a wish, perhaps, to remain in this comparatively Utopian place.

The restrictions of the Stalin era, which prohibited Russians' contact with the West, were entirely logical. A far less clever man than Stalin would have known that propaganda for the workers' paradise could not stand up to visual evidence of democracy's advantages. Even though the Red Army in East Germany is kept penned behind barricades, many of the men have escaped to the West; they have fleetingly seen, or returned to Russia with grave doubts about the communist "truths" they have been taught.

Now that the iron curtain is being partially lifted, such ideas are bound to spread. The movement may not show prominently at first, but it will be there. Sooner or later there will be a sizeable body of people in the Soviet who do not believe implicitly that communism is the first, last and only solution to living. And when that happens a new hope will be born.

Why Bother With Trash?

ONE OF VICTORIA'S NEWS agencies—distributors of paperbacks, magazines and newspapers—confirms an opinion expressed by librarians of this region. Victorians, the news agency reports, choose better quality material from the news stands.

This expression of opinion from a news agency spokesman is important. Whereas librarians might tend to association with the so-called "long-hairs," news agencies deal with people at the popular level. The studious type which frequents the library might represent only a fraction of the reading public. The news stand client is in no such exclusive category.

Conceivably there may be some difference between a librarian's definition of "high class" reading material and that of a news agent. But at all events both imply a distinction of character in the matter which Victorians pick up and take home to read.

It is gratifying to learn from a spokesman serving the multitude that the better publications are more attractive to the people of this community. But the report leaves one problem unsolved. If there is limited demand only for the poor, shabby and cheap stuff that makes its way to the news stand, who puts it there? Who is pushing material which would be better ignored?

Without developing an intellectual snobbishness, could not those who minister to the reading needs or desires of the public capitalize on the selective character of Victoria's reading and drop the inferior stuff completely? Conditions here appear admirably suited for such a noble experiment.

'Does That Compartment Defrost Too?'

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I KNOW an office where little slips of paper flutter round, saying "Let me have your thinking on this." Not your thoughts about the bits of paper themselves, or about the curious phrase "let me have your thinking," but about any question that has arisen. When the expression becomes universal, you will no longer ask a doctor or a lawyer for his opinion. No, you will ask him to let you have his thinking. Instead of a skipper saying to a navigator "Where do we go from here?" he will say "Let me have your thinking on this, Mister N."

I wonder what the correct reply to such a phrase should be. "Herewith my thinking." "I beg to enclose my thinking, as requested." "Dear Sir, I find I can let you have my thinking to the extent of 300 words." And instead of reserving judgment, should you say "My thinking has been postponed"? It is always polite to answer a man in his own idiom, but for us beginners it is rather tough, and a great consumer of time.

I was telling a man in England about this "let me have your thinking" lingo, and he was just beginning to get a nice long laugh out of it, when suddenly he got a message from an official British source, written by an Englishman, and it said "War Office thinking is..." My friend told me "This is pure Pentagon. We all talk American these days." The idea of talking Pentagon, as a foreign language of its own, is very lovely. "Hist, there are spies about, we had better speak Pentagon to baffle them." And baffle them it should, too.

THE NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS WHILE giving reports from abroad, I had better let you have a condensed version of a rather interesting little story. It is a Cautionary Tale. A military friend of mine warned me against accepting a certain interpretation of certain international news, and he proceeded to give me a recent example of not very reliable reporting. "I was horrified," he said, "to read in The Sunday Times (London) of July 17: GROWING CRISIS IN ADEN. 300,000 UNRULY TRIBESMEN MAKE BRITAIN'S POSITION UNTENABLE, or words to that effect. This from their own special correspondent. Actually, the basis of the present 'crisis' amounts to perhaps 200 rifles of the Shamal tribe. Suitably bribed by the Yemen, they nip into wild mountain country, create what trouble they can, and then nip back into the Yemen where the RAF are not allowed to pursue them. Crisis, my foot!"

"THEY have scored a tactical success, in that the Government has abandoned a so-called fort (a stone hut) which was erected to protect a road which was not built because it proved too difficult and costly. Rather stupidly, they left some Government guards in the hut, who had to be relieved and supplied with everything, right down to water, every three weeks. This eventually absorbed practically all the effort of the Aden Protectorate Levies, and the only result achieved was that the guards sat in the hut and sold ammunition to the tribesmen. Much too late in the day, it was decided there was no future in this.

"Of course, abandoning the hut does mean some loss of face. But temporary reinforcements in the shape of British troops should counter-balance that, and give the Levies time to rest, train, and re-group. Nothing to justify The Sunday Times alarmist."

WHAT'S THE RUSH? I SUPPOSE you have read those advertisements, offering you an authentic legal title, with deed, to one square inch of "Yukon Gold Rush Country," in exchange for one (1) box-top from a packet of breakfast cereal. I hadn't read the advertisement till now, and I am still a bit numb. Pass me some hot cereal. One of the paragraphs tells me "Temperatures on your land go down to 70 and up to 90 degrees below zero. If you want, on your property in temperatures like this, it would be dangerous to take deep breaths!"

Well, what is so tempting about that? If conditions on my property are as bad as that, I'm going to sell out. Sell out while the Berton boom lasts. And another thing: while I am "on my property," which consists of one square inch, I will not only be dying of deep breaths but I will be trespassing. My shoes cover many square inches. Even the part of each shoe that is off the ground will be blocking somebody's light. Who wants to live in Lilliput? Not me. I don't care one little putt for it.

THE advertisement also says that nobody knows how many men died along the frozen Yukon River that flows past my land. Is it important that I should know? And if it is, and I can never find out, this is going to frustrate me terribly. "Nothing is stranger or stronger than the lust men have for gold," says the cereal-and-land advertisement. Well, the lust for information is much worse, and is doing far more harm in the world right now. Once I start worrying about how many square inches of men died on my square inch of land, I will become a victim of the info-lust. Than which...

The advertisement says the land will be to my sole use, benefit and behoof forever. Get thee behoof me, Satan.

SAVAGERY I HAD to attend a funeral the other day. Certain aspects of the service upset me, and afterwards a friend said to me, "You know, funerals can be almost as barbarous as weddings."

From Our Files

Aug. 24, 1895—The program for Children's Day at the exhibition was discussed yesterday by the Teachers' Association. Some objection was voiced to having the children march to the grounds.

Aug. 24, 1915—Ven. Augustine Scriven, M.A., Archdeacon of Vancouver, was consecrated Bishop of British Columbia this morning in Christ Church Cathedral, which was crowded for the ceremony.

Aug. 24, 1935—Victorians have an opportunity to see Shirley Temple in her latest movie, "Curly Top," opened at the Capitol today for a run of three days. Added attractions are "Lucky Fingers."

As Our Readers See It

OLD TIMER QUERIED

In your correspondence columns a few days ago "Old Timer" states that the Catholic Church membership is "in excess of four hundred millions." Could he say whether this is just a rough guess or an estimate based on a proven number of true believers?

"ANOTHER TIMER."

DESECRATION

No longer will Victoria have the quaintness and charm that has made it the envy of the citizens of every other city in Canada and the main attraction for thousands of tourists who come here each year from the United States.

Beautiful old estates along Rockland and other old streets are now being replaced by apartments and NHA residences while speculators with a total disregard for the aesthetics ruthlessly destroy the beautiful native trees without considering that new tenants and prospective purchasers alike would desire to preserve the oak and arbutus now so rare.

Civic officials would do well to consider the matter and enact by-laws to prevent purchasers of fine old estates destroying entirely the natural beauty which, if allowed to continue, will result in our city resembling an overgrown mining town.

A drive along Rockland will reveal that the foresight of the pioneers in making this street of stately residences and beautiful gardens is not appreciated by a minority of the newer residents in that area, who in some instances neglect to supply the water necessary to keep the old hedges, trees and shrubs from dying.

VETERANS' CHAPEL

May this writer trespass on your valuable space in taking strong exception to the remarks a lady correspondent expressed, in a recent issue of your popular paper, regarding the construction of a Veterans' Chapel on the hospital grounds in Victoria.

Evidently your correspondent is unaware that, under existing conditions, Divine Service on Sundays is held in the recreational hall every other Sunday, conducted by our Padre (The Reverend Douglas Kendall)—a temporary altar being erected with a wooden cross in the centre and candles on each side of the altar and covered by the Union Jack, together with a choir and occasionally a special preacher. These are nice services, but not to be compared to services which could be held in the Veterans' new Chapel.

Our Padre has informed the writer that building of the Veterans' Chapel will start in October. The writer trusts that your correspondent of high standing, recognizing the above facts, will be a little more co-operative in acknowledging the necessity in the building of a Veterans' Chapel without delay.

In conclusion, may the writer and his comrades express to the president and members of the WA of the Veterans' Hospital their deepest gratitude for their kindness and generosity in the donation of gifts, providing comforts in no small measure to the patients of the Veterans' Hospital.

The writer takes his hat off to the WA of the Veterans' Hospital.

SOURCES

"To know that you do not know, is the beginning of wisdom"—were words spoken by a very wise man who lived over 2,500 years ago—Confucius.

My critics (those who would judge me as a "fallen man") invariably refer to Christian principles... Christian teachings... In such fashion as to convey the idea that there are principles and teachings which were originally and exclusively those of Jesus the Christ after whom the so-called Christianity is named.

Thirty years ago the great religious historian, Joseph McCabe, published "The Sources of The Morality of The Gospels" in which he showed paragraph by paragraph that there is not one single original moral sentiment in the Gospels. He selected from the four Gospels every moral saying that is ascribed to Jesus, and then in two parallel columns he gave almost identical ethics from the more ancient Greek, Roman and Jewish moralists clearly showing that all of the important Christian teachings were lifted from earlier men of wisdom.

The Atheist does not have to spend years learning how to love and worship a mythical and unintelligible god or God, in order to know that he should with social-consciousness "love" his neighbors and do unto them as he would that they should do unto him. In fact it is well established that the intelligent Atheist is a better living person than the average Theist.

MOTHER'S JOB

During the last war I was very much startled to read in the local Times, a dispatch from Winston Churchill wherein he said he was sitting among the ruins of Carthage while writing it; for how could he, if the ruins were not there?

This mental jolt was the result, I think, of an impression received in early infancy, having read that all traces of Carthage had been wiped from the face of the earth and the area strewn with salt, with not a vestige remaining.

If I had read this historic fable later on, Churchill's seat among the ruins would not have so astonished me.

I write this in an attempt to warn against pre-military schools; impressions received there being deeper and more lasting than those received in later life. What they are working for is to destroy the God-given natural sympathy and confidence between mother and child. It is a long-range, totalitarian scheme.

Crisis in a Sick City

BY STEWART ALSOP, From Casablanca

(This delayed report was sent by Stewart Alsop on the very eve of the outbreak of the North Africa riots.)

A sick city gives forth a sort of smell, a special emanation of its own. The sick smell is always much the same, whether in Cairo during the riots or in Prague in the first weeks after the coup or in Shanghai just before the Communists got it, or in Jerusalem during the Palestine terror. This city has the smell of sickness, which is the smell of hatred and fear.

The sickness here is like that of a person in a dangerous fever, before the crisis has been reached. The crisis was expected Aug. 20, the second anniversary of the day when the French deposed Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben-Youssef, a self-regarding and luxury-loving man who has become, thanks to the French, the symbol of Moroccan nationalism. A great blood-letting was expected on this day between the ruling French and the rebellious Moroccans. Newspapers, men who share with vultures a common interest in death and disaster, have flocked here to be in at the kill.

The blood-letting did not develop early in the day. But as this is written the day has not yet ended and Casablanca's smell of hatred and of fear cannot be ignored. Anything—a fire out of hand or a few ill-aimed shots—may start very bad trouble.

SPORADIC TROUBLE

So far, the trouble has been small and sporadic. Here is what it has been like. You are riding in an open car behind a French jeep patrol, through the "New Medina"—the shoddy, glaring Arab section. The patrol leader, suspicious, stops a closed Arab funeral truck, painted white, with "Pompes Funeraires Musulmanes" written on the side. No less than 15 Moroccans, ranging from boys to old men, pile out of the little truck.

Just what they planned to do, no one knows. There are no weapons in the truck, but the two long empty coffins have air holes punched in them. The fifteen frightened Arabs are made to lean forward in a line, with their hands outstretched against the walls. From time to time a black Senegalese soldier walks down the line, and pulls their feet out, to make the leaning as painful as possible.

QUICKLY DISPERSED

A crowd begins to gather, but it is quickly dispersed when a platoon in a heavy truck is driven hell-for-leather into it. A couple of French soldiers catch a young Moroccan slithering along an alley and slap him until he screams, and then let him go.

When you leave, twenty minutes later, the Arabs are still leaning against the wall, their legs quivering from the strain. The last thing you remember is their brown hands, the veins swollen, against the dirty white of the wall, and the veiled look of fear and hatred in their eyes.

Or, later, you go to a place near a quarry, where trouble has been reported. There is a line of German-made tanks, with soldiers sitting on them in the hot sun, talking and joking. Just to one side, there is a long, dusty road with Arab houses on the left and a "bidonville" on the right. "Bidon" is French for gasoline can, and a bidonville is a town made rather a city, built entirely of flattened gasoline cans, and crawling with humanity.

In the peculiarly casual manner of French soldiery, troops are spread out along the road between the Arab settlement and the bidonville. There are 45,000 Arabs in this bidonville, and 20,000 more behind the closed shutters of the Arab settlement.

But there is no Arab to be seen, except for a rare, quick shadow, and a brooding silence reigns, broken only by the intermittent cackling of chickens and an occasional rifle shot.

The shots are fired mostly in warning. The corpse of one Arab, who did not heed the warning quickly enough, has been dragged off to one side. Two or three other Arabs were killed earlier. A French non-com, wounded by a shot from somewhere in the silent depths of the bidonville, has been taken off to the hospital.

UNDER THREAT

At the moment there are hardly more dead and wounded than one might expect traffic to inflict on a crowded holiday in an American city. But this is a sick city and both French and Moroccans are perfectly aware that the blood-letting can come at any time.

It can come, for example, if the Arab leaders become convinced that negotiation with the French is futile, and pass the word to the mobs to move against the French. Or the blood-letting can start if the French extremists gain the upper hand and the military are permitted to "teach the Arabs a lesson" by shelling and bombing Arab towns, as in Syria and Algeria after the war.

It will be a long, long time before this sick city is well. Here in Casablanca, and throughout Morocco, fear and hatred have bitten too deep to be erased and forgotten.

Kent Watering Place

LONDON—Well, here I am back in London after three weeks in Folkestone covering Marilyn Bell's channel swim. I had never heard of Folkestone before. I am looking forward to never going there again. It goes top of my list of favorite seaside resorts to dislike. It's a shocker.

Reyburn

Basic trouble with Folkestone is that it is a depressed area. Along with neighboring resorts such as Ramsgate, Deal and Broadstairs, it hit its peak in Victorian times. Those new things called railways came in about 1840 and it became very fashionable to take the long railroad trip of 70 miles to Folkestone and exchange the hurly-burly of London for the quietude of a Kent watering place. Hotels sprang up like mushrooms and the boom was on.

But the railways that had opened up Folkestone were its doom. As the railway network spread farther and farther afield throughout Britain, more attractive localities with better beaches were made handier to London and other big industrial centres. Holiday-makers went elsewhere and since Victorian times Folkestone has done nothing but look back.

The fact that hoteliers fought tooth and nail to keep industry out, so as to preserve what natural beauties there were, has boomeranged. Now the place is merely a town of hotels that aren't doing good business. I've never seen such a concentration of hotels in a town of this size. It has a population of 35,000. In the local guide book I counted 167 hotels, which are merely the ones that advertise in that booklet. The Grand Hotel, where we were staying, accommodates 200. At the height of the summer season 77 people were staying there.

In the winter? Local people prefer not to talk about the winter. But one manageress of a pub told me that in winter her only business consists of her going across the road to the greengrocer to buy a lettuce and he returns the compliment by crossing the road to buy a pint of beer from her. "If a visitor pokes his head in the door, I faint," she said. Why, by comparison to the jam-packed holiday resorts of Cornwall and elsewhere, do people either steer clear of Folkestone or, if they are misguided enough to give it a try, at once join the never-again club? The beach is appalling. It is made up of big pebbles that make it hazardous to try to stand up or sit down.

When the tide's in everyone is crammed up into a couple of yards of beach against the seawall; it goes out to reveal black rocks thick with slimy green sea-moss. At a more spacious part of the beach near the centre of town you're smart to keep a sunshade up, to ward off the soot from the channel steamers.

I had one swim at Folkestone. I got covered with the soot that floats on the water. I got bitten twice by jellyfish and cut my big toe on a stone coming out. From then on I figured that swimming at Folkestone just wasn't worth it.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Gallbladder Disease

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

Many ask if there is any medical treatment for gallstones, and I have to admit I know of none. Many ask me to give them a diet for their gallstones and I know of no logical one. We doctors all say, "Don't eat fats," but what good can that do when, as sometimes happens, the gallbladder is closed off from the duct system and the liver and bowel, or when it is so jammed full of stones that another could not possibly be added? Actually, no one knows just why, on one brief occasion in a person's life, his or her bile hardened and turned into stones.

Dr. Alvarez

There is nothing that will dissolve the stones; most of them are too big to get out through the series of tiny valves, and there is nothing I know of that will keep colics from coming, when they want to come. The only treatment then for the gallstones that are raising Cain is surgical. Some persons want the stones removed and the gallbladder left, but some 40 years ago surgeons quit doing this operation in half of the cases, the patient had to return later to get rid of the chronically inflamed gallbladder.

Must everyone with gallstones immediately be operated on? No; I seldom order an operation in the cases of elderly persons who never had any colic or indigestion. They have a 50-50 chance of living out their life in comfort. I order an operation only when colics are coming every so often and making the person's life miserable.

If gallstones start giving trouble and the patient is fat, the best thing he or she can do is to reduce and slim down. That will make the operation much easier and much safer.

PUZZLE OVER A DIAGNOSIS

I see many unhappy men and women who suffer from one of the bad habits which afflicts my profession. So often we give a person a diagnosis made up of one or two long words and then fail to take the time to answer all the person's questions as to what we mean, and what the diagnosis will mean to him. Thus, I just saw a very unhappy woman who recently was told by a physician that she had Friedrich's ataxia. When she asked what this meant, the doctor said he didn't have the time to write her a book on the subject, and dismissed her. Actually, what she has is a disease inherited from her ancestors, some of whom walked with a reeling gait very much like that of a drunk. Years ago I knew three brothers, all with this disease; it was a sight to see them reeling down a sidewalk together. I had to give them each a letter to the police saying that they were not alcoholics and should not be arrested.

One day I happened to pass the home where these men lived on a steep San Francisco hill, and I saw one of them come out of his door and roll head over heels down a flight of some 50 steps. He picked himself up and reeled off, none the worse for wear. He was used to that sort of thing.

Because this disease is due to some inherited defect in the nervous system, there is no cure available, and it will be a miracle if a cure for the ataxia is ever found. Ataxia means that a man hasn't good steady control over some of his muscles. Commonly, it means that he cannot control his legs well enough so that he can walk normally.

The woman whose story I started to recount, when she could not learn what Friedrich's ataxia was, did what many persons do—went to the library to look it up. Unfortunately, the librarian gave her an article on locomotor ataxia, and when she read that, and saw that commonly it is due to syphilis, she, a nice, clean woman, naturally was horrified and terribly upset. She immediately began to wonder when her husband had given her a venereal disease, and she became frantic over the idea that her children might have it. In reality, the woman hadn't syphilis and had no reason to fear it; Friedrich's ataxia has nothing to do with that disease. Her experience in the library was most unfortunate, and of the type that I have heard of many a time.

DO A NICE THING NICELY

Much unhappiness in this world is due to the fact that when persons do something kindly they often do it with a lot of grumbling and unpleasantness. I am a great believer in the idea that if one is going to do a nice thing, one should do it nicely. To do it unpleasantly is to destroy whatever happiness both persons concerned might otherwise experience.

In the south of Europe the people have a quaint way of expressing the idea. They say, "If you are going to give your old coat to a beggar—leave the buttons on it!"

Opinion Divided On Pruning Shrubs

The pruning of flowering shrubs is a controversial subject, since some gardeners are for it, and some against it.

In a small or medium sized garden, pruning is a necessity to obtain maximum flowering and to control and encourage growth.

On a large property, with spacings of 10 feet or more between the shrubs when newly planted, pruning may be reduced to removing faded flowers in the first couple of years only.

Since there are many hundreds of the smaller sized gardens being started around Victoria, pruning will continue to be needed.

Until midsummer, the flowering shrubs have been pruned immediately blossoms are over, and we have noticed the response in vigorous new growth which will carry next year's blooms. This growth has time to ripen before frost is likely to cause damage.

If however, we continue this program with those shrubs which produce bloom during the months from August through the fall, the new growth thus encouraged would suffer winter damage from being unripened, with the result that no flowers would appear.

Therefore, all shrubs which flower from midsummer onwards are pruned in the early spring. After pruning, new shoots will form and these will carry blossoms the following summer and fall.

Included in this group are such popular shrubs as the rosy pink Spiraea Anthony Waterer, Leycesteria formosa (flowering nutmeg), the variety of Escallonia which flowers in the fall, and the blue blossomed shrub Clerodendron Fargesi. The same applies to the summer and autumn blooming heathers.

COUNCILLOR QUILTS

North Van Council Asks Probe

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—The district municipal council of North Vancouver will call on the provincial government to inquire into North Vancouver municipal affairs and the ethical conduct of its elected members.

Meanwhile, Reeve Grant Currie said a by-election will be called "as soon as possible" to fill a seat left vacant by the resignation of councillor Mort Reid.

Mr. Reid submitted his resignation to municipal hall, claiming that no explanation on his part can entirely remove the doubt which will exist in the minds of some people in the community.

Two weeks ago a councillor charged a firm partially owned by Mr. Reid did $900 worth of business with the district this year.

Hogs trample and eat any snake they see, their thick layer of fat protecting them from bad effects of poisonous bites.

Brief Will Ask Larger Vessel For West Coast

Royal Commission Sits Monday; Changes Expected in Schedule

A brief asking that the CPR build a combination passenger-freight steamer to take over the old Princess Maquinna schedule on the west coast of Vancouver Island will be presented to a Royal Commission Monday by Major George Nicholson.

He will suggest as an alternative that the CPR and Union Steamships jointly operate a suitable ship between Vancouver and Port Alice.

Major Nicholson's arguments will be contained in a brief to be presented at hearings of the Royal Commission on the coastal trade of Canada.

Victoria sittings will be held at the Court House Monday from 2 to 5 p.m. and Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Commissioners will include Hon. Mr. Justice W. F. Spence, chairman; W. N. Wickwire, QC; and M. Belanger, CA. G. G. McLeod and Paul Cimon are secretary and assistant secretary respectively.

CHANGING TERMINAL

Major Nicholson believes that the CPR is contemplating making Port Alberni the turn-around point for its west coast steamer, the Princess of Alberi, instead of Victoria.

He believes his effort to stop Victoria losing another CPR ship should have the unanimous support of every Victoria organization, including the Chamber of Commerce, but he said neither the Victoria chamber nor the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will be presenting briefs.

On the other hand, he said, he has the support of the Tofo Chamber of Commerce, Zealies Board of Trade and west coast businessmen.

INDUSTRIES HIT

In his argument favoring the old Princess Maquinna service, suspended in 1953, Major Nicholson claims the trade available warranted continuation of the service.

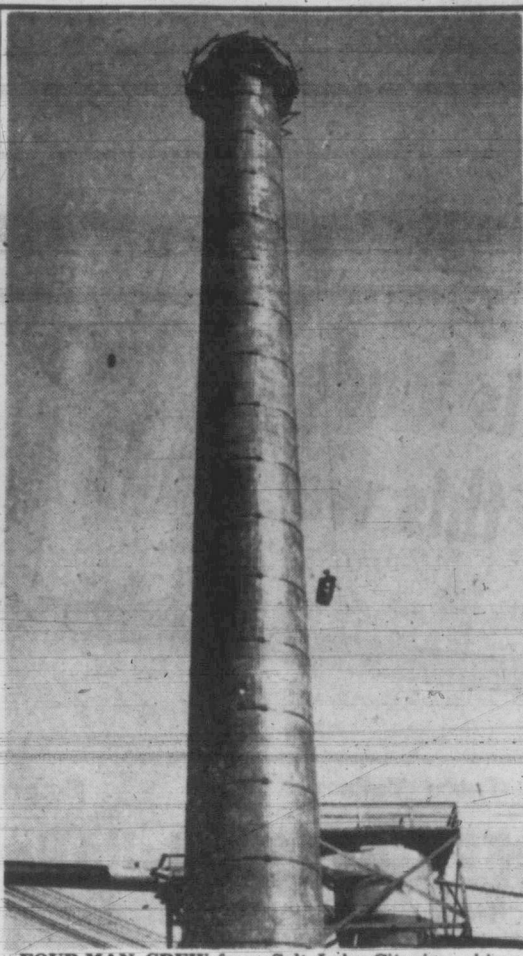

"Not until about 1945, by which time the Zealies mines had closed down, the pilschard industry, had folded up, and the fishing companies commenced carrying their supplies both ways in their own fishpackers, was there any appreciable decline in either the number of passengers or the amount of freight carried by the Maquinna, or her sister ship the Princess Norah," he states in his brief.

"Prior to then it was often impossible to obtain a stateroom either northbound or southbound. And months after fishing closed found the Maquinna still bringing the pack out from the canneries and reduction plants, and taking supplies in for the next season. She also always had a good load of pulp from Port Alice."

HEAVY FREIGHT

"Thus it may be said that during this 25-year period prior to the admitted decline in freight and passenger traffic due to the reasons stated, and except for a few slack months in the late winter when the fish plants were closed down, the Maquinna usually sailed from Vancouver and Victoria with her holds full. She returned with a full load of pulp and fish products and her passenger accommodation taxed to the limit, both ways," Major Nicholson argues.

He claims changes in the Princess of Alberi schedule will not alleviate the passenger problem, nor overcome the necessity of industries on the west coast having to bring in practically all of their heavy equipment and machinery by freighters of another company.

HOME TO 150 BOATS

Kyuquot Boom Town In Salmon Season

KYUQUOT, B.C. (CP) — Fishing is the sole industry in this village of 300 on the west coast of Vancouver Island. All except the storekeepers and fisheries officer are commercial fishermen.

The driving force behind the village's growth was a co-operative fish-buying company, established in depression years. Its own business has dwindled as members were lured to the two large private companies that were established here.

For more than 30 years Kyuquot has been an important base for the west coast fishing fleet. The home fleet of 35 trawlers is swelled at times to as many as 150 boats when runs of spring or coho salmon enticed fishermen from as far south as Bamfield and as far north as Queen Charlotte Sound.

Fishermen begin trolling for spring salmon as early as February and increase their efforts in May when fish become more plentiful.

HALIBUT IN AUGUST

During May and again some time in August there is a short season of halibut fishing, and many of the larger boats are stripped of trolling gear to take part.

Hunting is a favorite sport in this area. Although deer are rare in this cougar-protected land, ducks and geese are plentiful.

Club Planning Country Fair In Brentwood

BRENTWOOD — Brentwood organizations are making preliminary plans for the annual country fair, tentatively scheduled to be held in the community hall on Wallace Drive, Oct. 15.

It will be an affair of wide interest, with the main hall as usual offering a wide variety of exhibits, sideshows and games of chance.

The popular hobby show in the lower hall will offer country handicrafts, including wood-working, needlework, paintings, photography, and coin and stamp collections.

The Community Club committee getting the arrangements under way consists of the club president, Howard Wood, and Claude Sluggert, Muriel Peard and Muriel Knott.

Island Airman Faces Action For Swim Try

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 28-year-old air force technician faces what his senior officers call "severe action" for ignoring a West Vancouver police warning and attempting to swim from Point Grey to Point Atkinson near Vancouver.

Squadron Leader J. Moir said action would be taken against Leading Aircraftman Roderick J. Campbell of Ladysmith for his second unaccompanied attempt at the swim.

Campbell was pulled from the water of English bay about seven hours after he left Point Grey. The swim is about 10 miles.

He got a warning from police when he made his first attempt July 28th.

Boost Promised Art Centre

Art gallery curator Colin Graham said he is "extremely pleased" over statement in a letter Tuesday to city council by Education Minister Ray Williston that his department would be willing to increase the gallery grant next year.

Provincial grant has been $250. City grant this year was $3100. Any provincial increase would be used for gallery educational services, said Mr. Graham, "all of which are now put on at less than cost."

HEART ATTACK RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF INDIAN, 55

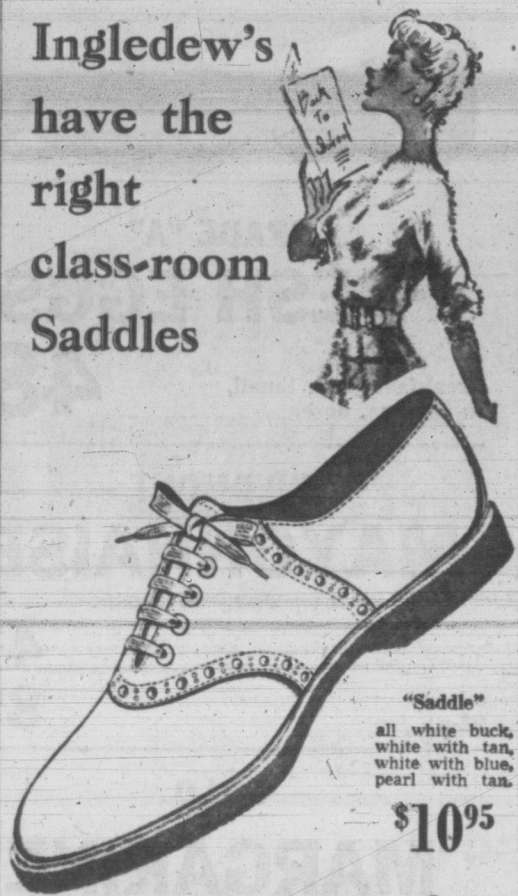

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—Death of Robert George, whose body was found Sunday on an abandoned railway grade in the rural area, was due to a heart attack, an autopsy ruled Tuesday.

A lifelong resident of Alberni Indian reserve, Mr. George was about 55 years old.

His body was discovered by three young boys.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

From one Gilbert Livingstone, Indian, last of his Nitinat or Wyak tribe to dwell on the Lake Cowichan reserve. The last found the meaning of the word "Caycuse" (rhymes with "high moose," remember?). In addition to a translation of the old home-town name, I learned more of the Indian language in all its picturesque connotations.

Caycuse is translated literally as "the place where the Indians burned the bottoms of their canoes," and was named not by the B.C. Indians but those from Neah Bay, Wash., whose tongue is that of the Nitinat tribe.

For years before the turn of the century, marauding bands of these Indians made the long trip by canoe from Neah Bay to Clooose on the west coast of Vancouver Island. There they made camp on a small beach on Nitinat Lake, and burned with cedar torches the water-torn splinters on the bottoms of their craft that impeded the swiftness of their passage.

Thus the vast wooded country west of Cowichan Lake derived its name from one small lake that isn't really a lake at all, but a salt-water inlet into which the headwaters of the Nitinat and Caycuse Rivers join to reach the sea.

"Mesachie," which we have always believed to mean "angry" or "cranky," means, Mr. Livingstone told me, bad just plain, thorough and unmitigated mean bad. And so, back in the old days again, when a tribe of Indians, using the woods around a small lake for a hunting ground, lost many hunters to a fearsome killer-animal, they called the little lake "Mesachie." And today, cradled in the hills, lies the same little lake with its thriving milling town known as Mesachie Lake. The mighty beast, although unnamed in the legend, is believed by Mr. Livingstone to have been a large bear, and was eventually annihilated by two strong young braves.

But the scoop that delighted me most of all, the story that I have been longing to uncover, came of its own volition, with no prodding from this curious scribe.

In the course of his story-telling Mr. Livingstone told of how the Neah Bay Indians crept up the Nitinat River through the watershed divide between Nitinat and Cowichan Lakes to make sudden and devastating raids on the villages.

On one such tragic night the marauders staged a savage attack on a settlement, wiping out the entire slumbering population with the exception of one young Indian and his bride, who fled for refuge to a curving, verdant bay on the southwest shores of Cowichan Lake.

In later years a young Englishman and his wife settled in the same bay, and, hearing the romantic legend, named their new home "Honeymoon Bay." The founder of the bay was Henry March, and today the lovely rolling March farms, carried on by his son, Charles March, thrive on the outskirts of the neatly-laid-out town of Honeymoon Bay, with its giant mill and great booms lining the lake shore.

So my quest for romance behind the colorful, compelling name is fulfilled; and now we know that "Caycuse" isn't a horse.

North Cowichan Picnic Sites Will Be Reviewed

DUNCAN—A survey of picnic sites in this district will be undertaken by the lands and forest department in response to a recommendation of North Cowichan municipal council.

Already there are three beaches in the municipality, at Maple Bay, Crofton and Chemainus, which are being improved regularly. Proposed recreation sites are at Maple Bay peninsula, Maple Bay mountain, Mount Prevost, and Richard mountain.

Canada's Biggest Football Crowd

Canada's largest football crowd, 28,013 paid, jammed Empire Stadium at Vancouver to watch the B.C. Lions defeat the Calgary Stampeders, 14-8, Monday night in the coast club's opening game of the 1955 WIFU season. The mark eclipsed the record set at Toronto's Varsity Stadium for the 1954 Grey Cup game, 27,391. Officials expect to add 3,000 more seats to Empire Stadium's capacity for the 1955 Grey Cup game, to be held in Vancouver in November. (Vancouver Sun photos.)

REESE SAYS:

Brooks Won't Fold

NEW YORK (UP)—You can't blame the Brooklyn Dodgers for playing two seasons at once but Peewee Reese insisted today that "barring total collapse" the team won't lose this season as it did in 1951.

"That disastrous finish of 1951 is bound to enter your mind from time to time, particularly when we hit a slump," the little captain confessed. "It's still hard to realize that we blew that one."

"That one" was the pennant chase in which the Dodgers had a 13½-game lead between a doubleheader on Aug. 12 and dropped it all in a playoff with the Miracle Giants.

BAD MEMORY

"I've been through a couple of 'em," Reese grinned wryly as he recalled the 9½ game August bungle which the Dodgers blew in 1952 to the Cardinals. "Sometimes, right now, it makes me feel downright cold and I have trouble eating."

"But we'll win two or three in a row and stop all this 'panic' chatter," he added. "It doesn't seem possible that we could lose this one. This club hasn't let down, the players are hustling, we're getting good pitching and the only thing wrong is that we aren't hitting at the right time."

In answer to those who are predicting another El Foldo for the Dodgers, there are a number of statistics which stand out in cold rebuttal.

The most important is that in 1951, the year of the great collapse, the Dodgers held only a six-game lead over the Giants at this exact stage of the pennant race. This is predicated on the exact number of games the Dodgers now have in the book—with a 12-game lead.

In a mere two-week span that season they dropped seven and one-half games of their lead. From then on they rallied to fight tight down to the wire. Two weeks ago they held a 16½-game lead. They have dissipated 4½ games of that lead.

NO TENSION

"But now we should be about ready to snap out of it," Reese explains. "Maybe it's a case of being so close to the woods that you can't see the trees, but I honestly can't feel any tension or see anybody being jittery on this club."

There is another great difference.

Back in 1951 the Giants were an inspired, hungry outfit convinced that they were destined to charge on to victory. They were led by a battling little man named Eddie Stanky and were getting yeoman service from such as Al Dark, Monte Irvin, Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie.

The challenges this time are the Milwaukee Braves. It's a different sort of outfit. They have been accused of being "spoiled" and it seems a certainty that they lack spark and aren't "hungry." Without such spurs to goad them on their task is virtually impossible.

Brentwood Leads Softball Semis

Brentwood defeated Tofino, 5-4, at Brentwood Tuesday night to take a one-game lead in the B.C. senior "C" softball semifinal.

Second game of the best-of-three series will be played in Brentwood tonight at 8:30, with the third game, if necessary, following immediately after.

FANCY-STEPPING Negro halfback Frank Williams (87) of B.C. Lions, is about to be surrounded by hostile Calgary Stampeder tacklers as he goes for a gain at Vancouver's Empire Stadium Monday night. Coming on to deter

Williams are Ronnie Morris (65), Lynn Bottoms (83) and Joe Yamauchi (97). Frank was stopped on this play but scored the first touchdown as Lions won their home WIFU opener, 14-8.

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced Tuesday that import halfback Bob McNamara would be lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

Doctors said McNamara had suffered a complete tear of the inner ligament of his left leg in a game Monday night against the Edmonton Eskimos.

His loss was a major setback to the club which this year had been hit by the loss of two imports to the Cleveland Barons, the death of a lineman and the resignation of Indian Jack Jacobs.

HAMILTON, Ont. (BUP)—The Hamilton Tigercats, wearing confident smiles and sporting a strong backfield, meet the Big Four champion Montreal Alouettes in a pre-season exhibition football game here tonight.

The Ticats used a "smile of confidence" slogan in their season ticket advertising. The Als were expected to draw a big crowd to Civic Stadium as the home team seeks revenge for what the cats consider was a pushing around they took in last year's playoffs.

The Ticats were still juggling their playing roster. They released halfback Jim Philbee to the Toronto Argonauts this week, but still had plenty of backfield power. Their weakness was in line holes left by the loss of Bill Quinlan and Les McLellan. Charlie "Ice" Kubus.

Statistics compiled by the British United Press showed that Carpenter's two touchdowns in the Riders' only game Saturday were enough to tie Leake, who scored a touchdown and a convert on Saturday against Saskatchewan and added a field goal and another convert against Edmonton Monday.

Leawick plays third base. Alongside of him at shortstop will be another NHL star, Larry Popein of New York, late of Vancouver Canucks. Also in the infield will be Canuck Phil Maloney, Jack McGill, former Boston Bruin and junior star Ron Hemmerling.

Ted Can't Do It Alone, But He Sure Is Trying

Williams Whips Tribe; Bosox Gain

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press Sports Writer

Torrid Ted Williams can't win the pennant for the Red Sox all by himself but he's sure giving it one whale of a try and worrying all the other contenders half to death in the process.

The 36-year-old Williams, who is averaging almost a run batted in per game since coming out of "retirement" in late May, put on one of his patented performances Tuesday night in leading the Red Sox to an 8-3 victory over the Indians and to within 3½ games of the American League lead.

Williams drove in four runs, making a total of 63 in 67 games, as he boosted his batting average to .344 with his 23rd homer and a double. Ted's two-run homer in the third inning was a line drive over the right field fence at the expense of lesser Herb Score while he smashed his two-run double to left-center off ace reliever Don Mossi in the seventh.

ONLY GAIN

Chiefly because of Williams' lousy hitting, the Red Sox were the only club in the league's "Top Four" to gain ground.

Even though the White Sox actually lost a percentage point by dividing a doubleheader with the Orioles, they took over first place by two percentage points when the Yankees lost to the Tigers, 7-2.

The White Sox ran their winning streak to five straight games with a 6-2 victory in the opener but the Orioles ended a four-game losing streak of their own with a 10-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Frank Lary halted Detroit's five-game losing streak by limiting New York to eight hits. The Tigers made short work of Yankee starter Bob Turley, chasing him to cover in the second inning after he loaded the bases.

Kansas City defeated Washington, 4-3, despite two homers by Roy Sievers, a homer and a triple by Carlos Paula. Vic Power drove in three of the Athletics' runs with a homer and a single.

STOP SKID

The Brooklyn Dodgers put a stop to their backslide with a 6-4 victory over the Cubs that moved them 12 games ahead of the second-place Braves who were beaten by the Phillies, 4-2, in the other National League game, the Pirates nipped the Redlegs, 2-1, while the Cardinals edged the Giants, 2-1.

Carl Furillo's two-run homer in the seventh inning snapped a 4-4 tie and earned relief pitcher Don Bessent his sixth straight victory without a defeat. Bessent had taken over for Dodger starter Don Newcombe, who gave up all of Chicago's runs and then left the game with a strained shoulder muscle in the third inning.

Butlers Increase Boxla Lead

Saanich Butler Brothers flattened Fernwood, 19-2, at Stevenson Park Tuesday to increase their first place bantam lacrosse league lead over Esquimalt to three points.

Brian O'Hare with six goals and Fred Wright with five led the winners on their scoring spree.

In a pee-wee league game, Fernwood, led by Brian Spaven with five goals, blanked Fairvoks, 11-0. Scores follow:

Kerrisdale Floor a Poser For Tribe-Irish Boxla Clash

It might just depend on that new floor.

John "Red" McMillan was doing the talking, and he was speaking about the new $50,000 terrace floor at Kerrisdale Arena in Vancouver.

McMillan, coach of the Victoria Shamrocks in the Intercity Lacrosse League, will be herding his charges onto that new floor tonight to do battle with the Mt. Pleasant Indians in the fourth game of their best-of-five semifinal.

Shamrocks lead the Tribe, two games to one. In a "homer" series, the Irish won the first game at Memorial Arena, 10-1, dropped the second, in Vancouver's Forum, 9-7, and won the third at home, 12-8.

And this fourth one is the big one. While the strangeness of the new floor might bother the Rocks for a while, coach McMillan is confident that Rocks can wrap it up tonight.

To help Victoria will be Peewee Bradshaw, Bob Dobbie and Arnie Ferguson on one attacking unit, Jack Blonda, Larry Booth and Aphie Browning on the second forward line, and Al Davies, Nip O'Hearn and Jackie Northup on the third.

George Johnston will be back in goal, with Bill Bamford and Lou Landess, and Bob Monaghan and Jack Thompson the defensive combinations. Al Gill, whose ailing leg is improving rapidly, will be utility.

Should the Shamrocks solve the new floor and the Indian defence tonight and triumph, they will likely have flashy Whitey Severson back in strip Saturday night for the opening game of the final against Nanaimo Timbermen. Severson, who has been on the shelf with a shoulder separation for some time, is close to being fit again.

An Indian victory tonight will bring the two teams back to Memorial Arena Friday night in the fifth and deciding game of the series.

Torrid Rivalry Ended As Students Eliminated

Fletchers 9, Students 2

Cec Fletchers and Chinese Students won't meet again in Senior A Men's Softball League action this year. And, to a large section of fans, it is a pity.

At interheads all season, the clubs took their smouldering rivalry into the league semifinals and the only thing that kept it from bursting into a full flame was the fact that Fletchers won the series in three straight games. Fletchers ended the entertaining series Tuesday night at Central Park with a 9-2 victory as big Ab Wiebe set Students down on five hits.

Fletchers got off to a fast start with two runs in the first inning, an error to centre fielder Jimmy John setting up one of the runs.

That two-run lead loomed larger and larger, and the game looked like a repeat of Sunday night when Students lost by a 2-0 score.

BIG BLAST

But the league-leading batsman, Bernie Clarkson, of Fletchers soon settled that issue when he boomed out a long three-run homer to centre field in the last of the fifth.

Fletchers had a four-run inning in the seventh when they sent nine batters to the plate, and six of them picked up hits. They bunted reliever Ellis Archemer, and then Goegan put the finishing touch on the rally with another long home run to centre field that accounted for two runs.

A general mixup in which every player on both teams participated, erupted around third base in the seventh after Jimmy Morrison was tagged out in a run-down. Fans came out in the stands and it was just like an Australian tag-team match—fans and all.

One over-zealous fan continued the argument with Goegan but was discouraged by Goegan's fast left to the jaw that knocked the fan spinning.

GAME DELAYED

The game was delayed for 15 minutes and plate umpire Gordy Perkins had his hands full trying to settle down the teams for the final inning.

Wiebe, who had been called all night for throwing a wet ball, finally eased up in the ninth inning and Students scored twice on a home run by Jimmy John and three-base hit by Quinton Marr.

Tonight Arrow Furniture and Victoria City meet in the third game of their semi final series, and a win for Arrows will put them into the finals with Fletchers. Game time is 8:30.

Junior Anglers Set For Sunday Derby

The youngsters will get a chance Sunday to show their skills as fishermen when the Victoria-Saanich-Inlet Angler's Association holds its annual junior salmon derby.

Top prize for the juniors will be a bicycle donated by the Anchorage boathouse. In all, the prizes offered the lucky youngsters will total close to $300. One of them will be the use of a boat once a week for four months from Millers Landing at Brentwood. There will be at least eight other prizes, mostly fishing tackle.

The Ronnie Sadler Memorial Trophy, won last year by Bruce Petrie with a 21-pound, 11-ounce catch, will be awarded to the angler bringing home the biggest fish.

Fishing starts at 8 a.m., with fish required to be weighed in by 3 p.m.

The derby is open to all boys eight to 14 years of age and girls eight to 16 years of age. All entrants must have a VSIAA junior membership and a derby ticket, both of which are available at most city sporting goods stores and Saanich Inlet boat-houses.

Swaps or Nashua, Just Ask Jockeys

CHICAGO (AP)—If you are trying to choose between Swaps and Nashua, what the jockeys have to say about the $100,000 winner-take-all match race may prove most helpful.

The showdown between the three-year-old colts, first of its kind in the U.S. since Capot beat Coaltown by 12 lengths at Pimlico in 1949, is set for next Wednesday at Washington Park at 1 1/4 miles.

Nashua's only defeat as a sophomore was to Swaps by 1 1/4 lengths at this distance in the Kentucky Derby.

Swaps, unbeaten as a three-year-old, boosted his 1953 victory streak to eight straight by taking the American Derby Saturday on Washington Park's turf in a record-matching 1:54 3/5 for the 1 1/4-mile distance.

Nashua hasn't raced since winning the Arlington classic last month, covering the mile in 1:35 1/5.

Willie Shoemaker, who will ride Swaps against Eddie Arcaro and Nashua, says he first was convinced of the Khaled-Iron Reward colt's greatness in the San Vicente Stakes at Santa Anita Jan. 19. It was Swaps' only race in the mud this year and he stepped the seven furlongs in 1:24, beating Trentonian by 3 1/2 lengths.

"He proved how terrific he was in the Kentucky Derby," Shoemaker said. "Nashua came right up to me in the stretch. I hit Swaps a couple of times and he started to draw away. I knew I had a lot of horse left."

Arcaro, who has been working out Belair's Nashua at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., says the Nasrullah colt "is a much better horse than he was in the Derby—smarter, faster and stronger."

Since the Derby, Nashua has won the Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer and Arlington classic.

Ted Atkinson, who rode Nashua to victory in the Wood Memorial, says: "For a big colt, Nashua has a remarkable burst of speed from the gate. It could be a surprise to the Swaps people, but I don't think that burst ever has been exploited."

Jockey Dave Erb, who booted Swaps to victory over older horses at Hollywood Park in the world-record time of 1:40 2/5 for the 1 1/4-mile, thinks that from the quarter pole on, the match race should be the greatest ever seen.

"Nashua knows he has it in him," Erb said, "but he gets over-confident. He'll drop back off the pace and then will start running over horses until he reaches the leader. Then he begins to hang, sort of reluctant to pass the top horse."

The baseball star was carrying his daughter, Terry, five, on his back and towing George, Jr., nine, on an inner tube. A wave hit the little girl and she jumped on her father's head, pushing him under the water.

"I struggled when I went under and almost blacked out," Kell said. "I went down once, came up, but my strength was gone. I went down again and still was almost completely unconscious when I came up."

Kell said he saw that his son had grabbed Terry and she was holding on to the inner tube.

"By this time my strength had partly returned," he said. "I towed them to a raft, which luckily was only a few feet away. It was the biggest scare of my life."

Decision Close on Vancouver PCL Bid

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer Alan Russell expected to give city council a final decision today on whether the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League will transfer their baseball franchise to Vancouver next summer.

Mr. Russell said Tuesday night he would give Oakland president Brick Lauer's decision to alderman Earle Adams.

The special baseball committee under Ald. Adams will recommend that city council build a $60,000 roof at Capilano stadium if Oakland agrees to turn over five per cent of its gross revenue to the city.

Mr. Russell said the club is in "general agreement" with the terms.

The 7,500 seat stadium, built in 1950, would be leased by the city to the team for five years with renewal options. Mr. Russell said Oakland prefers the roof to an extra 2,500 seats and blacktopping of the car parking area.

Laws was in Vancouver Tuesday during the negotiations. He said the Oaks had suffered from lack of home-town support.

Vancouver's last professional baseball team, the Capilano, folded with the Western International League last year.

Champ Suspended In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati boxing and wrestling commission Tuesday suspended lightweight champion Wallace Bud Smith of Cincinnati "until he fulfills his obligation to box here for the Becker Athletic Club."

The Cincinnati commission is affiliated with the National Boxing Association which operates in all states except New York.

The suspension was ordered at the request of promoter Sam Becker, who said Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, has told him he would not be given any of the television receipts for a rematch between Smith and former lightweight champion Jimmy Carter. Becker had announced Saturday the rematch would be held either Oct. 5 or 10.

Willie, Sky Hi Win As Referee Baffled

Bedlam continued its riotous course at Memorial Arena Tuesday night as Sky Hi Lee and Wee Willie Davis pulled every evil trick in the book to defeat Ken Kenneth and Timothy Geoghegan in the Australian tag team match main event of the weekly wrestling show.

Lee and Davis, featured performers for the past few weeks in most of the mat shenanigans at the Arena, took advantage of Gordie Gordienko's confused refereeing to take the deciding fall from Kenneth and Geoghegan and win the match.

In the preliminaries, Don Kindred took the semi-main event from Herman Kahn of Germany, who features his performances with Hitler salutes, and Dave Pye and Mike Belton battled to a draw in the opener.

Defending Champ Loses; Rae Milligan Survives

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Mary Ann Downey, a dogged, unemotional precision player from Baltimore, dropped defending champion Barbara Romack out of the women's U.S. amateur golf championship, one up, Tuesday and kept alive the tradition that champions don't repeat in this tournament.

A surprise Canadian contender, Rae Milligan of Edmonton, won her second straight match to enter the third round. Miss Milligan defeated Maureen Riley of New Castle, Pa., two up. She is the only Canadian surviving in the tournament, the highly regarded Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., having been eliminated Monday.

TOUGH ON CHAMPS

Not since Betty Jameson won in 1939 and 1940 has a women's champion been able to retain her title, and the belief has grown that it takes a super golfer to repeat in this event. Miss Romack wasn't a super star Tuesday, just a good player who went down fighting.

The medal scores of 39-41-80 for Miss Downey and 38-43-81 for Miss Romack showed the kind of golf they played over 6,413-yard par 74 Myers Park course. Women's par over the trying layout is 37-74.

One other ex-champion, Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby, was eliminated, but two more came through with easy victories. Miss Kirby, 1951 winner, was dropped 2 and 1 by Danish-born Greta Leone of Chicago. Ex-champion Grace Lenzky of Newton, Conn., whipped Mrs. Vealeir Smith of Huntington, W.Va., 8 and 6, and Mrs. Mark A. Porter of Philadelphia defeated Mrs. Louise K. Faquin of Salisbury, N.C., 4 and 3.

"We both had bad breaks," said Miss Downey. "Especially on the 13th and 14th. I missed a three-foot putt on the 13th that would have put me two up. On the 14th, Barbara went into the trap and blasted beyond the cup."

It wasn't quite that simple. Miss Romack's wood shots turned sour as early as the eighth hole, where she teed off into the rough and double bogged. She drove wild on six holes and three-putted thrice. She still made the turn one up, but after staying even through 14 holes she lost both 15 and 16 because her long game failed. But Miss Downey tightened on the 17th and missed a three-footer to let Barbara close the gap. Barbara had to win the hole but her quick 15-foot putt was a mite too hard and bounced out of the cup.

RIFLEMEN LEVEL SIGHTS IN HEALS RANGE MATCH

Competition for the Victoria and District Rifle Association's Weiler-Regan Trophy will commence Saturday at Heals Range.

The event will be held on three successive Saturdays, with the riflemen posting the aggregate score receiving the trophy. Top marksmen in each stage will also receive prizes. First stage firing will be at 200, 500 and 600 yards; second stage, 300 and 600 yards, and third stage, 900 and 1,000 yards.

Last year's winner, Albert Ashe, will be back to defend his trophy.

U.S. Rejects 'Enslavement'

Eisenhower Says 'Satellites' Will Remain Unacceptable

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—President Eisenhower assured the world today that America will never accept Communist enslavement of free people in its "eagerness to avoid war."

McEwen Wants More Public Restrooms

A plea for the city to provide more restrooms easily located by tourists and the general public was issued today by mayor-elect candidate Elmer McEwen.

"It's a city responsibility," he said, "and should not fall on the merchants."

The city provides restrooms behind the city hall and at the north end of the Causeway.

"Provision of adequate restrooms is one of the most important things to the general public," said Mr. McEwen, "though it isn't discussed very much."

Mr. McEwen suggested that some type of arrangement might be worked out between the city and merchants willing to co-operate in noting restrooms available.

$5-Week Raise For Barbers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some 250 British Columbia barbers Tuesday accepted a new contract giving them a $5 weekly wage increase, following an agreement reached earlier this week by union and management.

Members of Barbers' International Union AFL unanimously agreed to the settlement, reached after four months of negotiation.

Under the new one-year contract, employees will receive a $45 weekly guarantee and 65 per cent of their barber chair earnings over $64.50 per week.

This compares to the previous contract which called for a $40 weekly guarantee and 65 per cent of chair earnings over $57 per week.

DEMOTIONS FOR 3 OF 10 INVOLVED

Toronto Area Police Probe 'Wild Party' by Officers

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says an investigation is being conducted into the behavior of 10 policemen of three Toronto police stations.

The paper says two North York officers have resigned, three have been demoted and another is due to appear before a police department investigation Thursday. A city detective and three officers of the suburban Etobicoke force also are reported involved.

The story says North York police, who raided the party following an anonymous telephone complaint, found officers from not only their own force but also from the Toronto and Etobicoke forces in the apartment. One of the officers at the party had been detailed to watch the building.

The story says the apartment had been under police surveillance since last May.

Reeve Fred McMahon of North York, termed the affair

DANISH QUEEN AIDS CYCLIST

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Queen Ingrid's chauffeur bowed over a 65-year-old woman cyclist as he was driving the Queen Monday.

Mrs. Kristine Overmark rode across a main road in front of the car. The queen and her lady-in-waiting jumped out to give first aid until a doctor arrived.

Doctors said Mrs. Overmark suffered a brain concussion.

"We shall always hold," said the president, "that there can be no peace which involves acceptance of a status quo in which we find injustices to many nations, oppressions of human beings on a gigantic scale, and constructive effort paralyzed in many areas by fear."

The speech was aimed at making it clear to the world that this country sacrificed none of its basic principles when it mapped a peaceful co-existence policy with Russia at last month's big four "summit" talks in Geneva.

"The final judgment," he said in an address before the American Bar Association, "will depend as much on the march of human progress within their (the opposing worlds) own borders and on their proved capacity to help others advance as on the tranquility of their relations with foreign countries."

On the contrary, he said the free and Communist worlds actually are "on trial before the bar of world opinion." And he expressed confidence that the verdict will go to the west in the long run.

TO TORONTO—Veteran laborer Harvey Murphy, long B.C. representative of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers' Union, left Vancouver by air today to take up the post of vice-president of the organization with headquarters in Toronto. His appointment followed a reorganization meeting of the union July 21.

Rich Mining Area May Be Strike-Idled

KELOOG, Idaho (AP)—Members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Ind. voted Tuesday night to strike the 20 properties of the "16 operators" in the rich Coeur d'Alene mining district.

Picket lines will be thrown up at the mines before the morning shift Wednesday, a union spokesman said.

Some 800 men will be affected.

"The strike call was based on the refusal of the companies to bargain in good faith," James Daugherty, International union representative, said.

Officials of the 16 operators, who bargain as a unit, refused comment when advised of the strike vote.

Bunker Hill and the other operators agreed to a 15-cent hourly wage "package," but the big company was alone in offering a modified union shop clause. The other operators still answered, "No," to demands for a union security clause, a spokesman for the 16 said.

B.C. Air Ambulance Gets CCF Backing

Lillooet By-Election Candidate Calls For Duplicate of Saskatchewan Service

SQUAMISH, (CP)—Stan Thomas, CCF candidate in the Lillooet by-election, Tuesday night called for establishment of an air ambulance service for isolated communities in B.C.

Speaking in the parish hall, he suggested the government operate the service along the same lines as that now in operation in Saskatchewan "where there is no portion of the province less than an hour's flight from hospital."

Arnold Webster, CCF provincial leader, and Randolph Harding, CCF member of the legislature for Kaslo-Slocan, also addressed the meeting.

Mr. Thomas, making his second campaign speech in as many nights, suggested an ambulance plane be stationed in Vancouver ready for call at any time "particularly to scattered ridings such as Lillooet, where often the sole means of transportation is by train."

He said regular planes "are not properly equipped for ambulance service, although they perform valuable service at the present time."

Mr. Webster criticized the Social Credit government for "failing to make use of standing committees" during the last session and said he couldn't understand "why any government with the interests of the province at heart would continue to grant forest management licences while the Sloan hearing is still in progress."

He said "forestry matters which Gordon Gibson brought up in the house at the last session could have been handled clearly in committee and the controversy which arose and his resignation would never have arisen."

Mr. Gibson, is seeking re-election as Liberal. He resigned his seat last spring in protest over the government's forestry policy.

Mr. Harding spoke of the forest management licence granted recently to the Celgar corporation and said "it handed a vast empire to business largely under American control."

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY

LONDON—Tuesday's two-way crossing of the Atlantic in 14 hours was a busman's holiday for pilot John Hackett and his navigator, Peter Money Penny.

The ex-RAF officers make their livings on the English Channel air run. Normally, they fly across the 22-mile strait 16 times every working day.

"Flying the Atlantic in a Canberra twin-jet is a rest cure from the channel run," Hackett said.

'Whoo-oo-sh It's British' Press Gloats

Double-Crossing Of Atlantic Is Big News

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons today openly thumped their chests about an historic one-day round-trip to New York by a twin-jet Canberra bomber plane.

"Who says the British aren't what they used to be?" asks The Daily Sketch at the top of its front page.

The Times concedes that Capt. John Hackett's breakfast-to-dinner flight, in less than 14 hours, was of "more than passing interest."

"The mastery that now is ours . . . is a matter of pride," the staid, independent newspaper says in an editorial. "It was provocative of thought for its possibilities in peace and war."

The 32-year-old pilot and his navigator, Peter Money Penny, 31, streaked from London airport just after 7 a.m. local time Tuesday after a light breakfast. Just before 10 p.m. they were back on English soil and hustled off to a late dinner.

FIRST OF ITS KIND

It was the first England-New York round-trip flight ever completed in one day.

The plane screamed across the Atlantic to Floyd Bennett field, New York, in seven hours, 29 minutes and 56.7 seconds. Hackett and Money Penny wolfed down a second breakfast snack during a 35-minute intermission in which the United States Navy supervised the refuelling and turn-around of the Canberra, setting it up for the trip home.

Hackett and Money Penny made the double transatlantic flight of 6,914 miles in 13 hours, 46 minutes, 56.2 seconds flying time.

"We expected it to go right, and it did go right," Hackett told a press conference.

The two men, pilots for a civilian airline, flew a photo-reconnaissance version of the Canberra. An earlier model of the same plane made the first transatlantic round-trip in a single day three years ago—but from Northern Ireland to Newfoundland and back, 2,766 miles shorter than Tuesday's flight.

The Daily Sketch this morning splashed this headline over Page One: "Whoooh! It's British." The mass-circulation newspaper emphasized that the round-trip was another British "first," like the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic by Alcock and Brown in 1919, and like the world's first jet flight.

"And just for once, don't be too reserved to be proud to be British," The Sketch says.

New Ferry to Link With Newfoundland

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The $14,000,000 car ferry William Carson sailed for Argentina, Nfld., Tuesday on her maiden voyage as the major transport link between Newfoundland and mainland Canada. The Canadian National Railways, which operates the 8,200-ton vessel, said her capacity is 800 tons of general cargo and 50 tons of refrigerated produce. She has accommodation for 252 passengers and a deck which will hold 52 cars.

IT HAPPENED IN TEXAS

Indian Ambassador 'Segregated' in Cafe

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Indian Ambassador G. L. Mehta has written off his much-publicized exclusion from a public dining room at the Houston, Tex. airport as a "closed incident," an embassy spokesman said.

Mehta was asked to leave the restaurant Monday night because a white hostess mistook him and his aide for negroes. The state department apologized for the incident.

Mayor Roy Hofheinz of Houston telegraphed Mehta at the Indian embassy in Mexico City, formally apologizing "on behalf of every citizen of Houston." He asked Mehta to be his house guest on his return trip for as long as he can stay.

Decision Reserved On Coffin Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice Douglas Abbott Tuesday reserved decision on an application to the Supreme Court of Canada for leave to appeal the murder conviction of Wilbert Coffin.

The Gaspe prospector, scheduled to be hanged Sept. 23, was convicted at Perce, Que., Aug. 5, 1954, of murdering Richard Lindsey, 17, one of three Hollandsburg, Pa., hunters whose bear-gnawed bones were found in the Gaspe peninsula bush a year earlier.

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders' roster of American football imports has been trimmed by two.

Fullback Ted Schwanger from Sandusky, O., has left the Big Four club to return to school. Halfback Jim Wade, a product of the University of Tennessee, was cut from the team Tuesday night.

New Milk Talks Slated Friday

Unionists, Employer Delegate Meet Here as Strike Threatens

Further talks in a six-months-old dairy dispute are scheduled for Friday afternoon in Victoria when a dairy firm representative and local negotiating committee meet with Vancouver union secretary John Brown.

Efforts to prevent the first dairy strike in B.C. history continued in Vancouver this week as a formal strike vote is being taken among 1,100 mainland milk drivers and inside workers of nine dairy firms.

Employees are prepared to strike to support their demand of a higher guaranteed monthly wage and other contract changes.

Already agreed to strike if Vancouver negotiations fall are more than 160 Victoria drivers and inside employees of three dairies, who took a government strike vote two weeks ago.

Crux of the disagreement in the mainland city is a request from employers to reduce milk deliveries to five a week from the present six.

Vancouver local of the dairy workers' union rejected a conciliation award favoring distributors, but Victoria local accepted a separate conciliation report granting Island workers parity with Vancouver wages and conditions, when an agreement is reached.

Results of the Vancouver strike vote will be released by labor department officials on Friday.

CIO Demands Congress Probe Steel Price Hike

DETROIT (UP)—The CIO has asked Congress to investigate the increase in steel prices and the "rumored increase" in prices of 1956 model automobiles, CIO president Walter Reuther said Tuesday night.

Reuther, commenting on the bureau of labor statistics' report that the cost-of-living index rose three-tenths of one cent in July, said the union asked for the investigation to "get to the bottom of any price gouging which could be the breeding ground of a new inflationary spiral."

The CIO president blamed the steel price increase and other "needless" price hikes for the increase in the cost-of-living, which he said would "mean shrunken savings and a wage cut for millions of American workers."

4 MORE SUBS, ATOM-POWERED, FOR U.S. NAVY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy Tuesday disclosed plans for construction of four more atom-powered submarines, two by General Dynamics at Groton, Conn., one at the Mare Island, Calif., naval shipyard, and the fourth at the Portsmouth, N.H., naval shipyard. The first A-sub, the Nautilus, now is in operation and the second, the Sea Wolf, has been launched.

25 Canadians Going To Duke's Party

LONDON (CP)—At least 25 Canadians are expected to attend a three-week Commonwealth conference at Oxford next July on the human problems of industrial communities.

Fraser W. Bruce, Canadian-born member of the conference council and managing director of the Northern Aluminum Co. Ltd., is in Canada at present, partly on a mission to spark greater interest in next year's gathering.

Officials here say the Canadian group will be broadly representative—including persons from farming, industry, trade unions and industrial communities.

The study conference, suggested by the Duke of Edinburgh, will look into the problems created by industrialization in various parts of the Commonwealth.

"We all have much to learn from one another," the Duke of Edinburgh says in the conference program.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

There is a movement afoot to equip policemen with bow ties. In the progressive city of Edmonton, the change-over is already taking place, and there is no knowing how far it will spread.

This, to me, is an encouraging sign. I have long felt that police uniforms are much too conservative, and fail to do justice to the handsome stalwarts who wear them.

A bow tie is a step in the right direction. The bow tie is much perkier, has more personality, than the wrap-around type of dangling cloth known as the four-in-hand.

A man who wears a bow tie looks as if he were going places and doing things. In fact, if the bow tie is large enough, he looks as if he were about to take off and become airborne.

I do hope the policemen here will be allowed to wear bow ties. They might turn into an even greater tourist attraction than bobby helmets.

But an even greater improvement than a switch to bow ties would be a switch to no ties at all. Not only for policemen, but for all men.

The tie is the most useless and unnecessary item of dress ever foisted on innocent man. It accomplishes nothing whatsoever.

Uncounted hours of a man's life are wasted in tying and untying ties. And to what end? Simply to add to the discomfort of man's clothing which, heaven knows, is uncomfortable enough even without ties.

In case you didn't know, the tie was foisted on us during the reign of Louis XIV. Louis had a bunch of Croatian soldiers working for him, and they wore scarves knotted around their necks.

The poor, deluded Frenchmen thought this was a real George idea, and adopted the neckwear as an article of dress. They called it a "cravat" in the mistaken idea they were saying "cravat," and we've been stuck with it ever since.

Nowadays, to make matters even worse, this item is called a "four-in-hand," and men who own more than one of same are driven to distraction trying to figure out whether the plural is four-in-hand, four-in-hands, four-ins-hand, or what.

I say, whatever the plural may be, away with them.

CITY POLICE ENTHUSIASM FOR BOWS IS RESTRAINED

Victoria police, who have successfully battled sporadic attempts to put them back in bobby helmets, today gave a fairly conclusive "nix" to the suggestion they might consider bow-ties.

Police in Edmonton are wearing 'em. Said Police Commission chairman Mayor Claude Harrison: "Oh dear oh dear! Ha ha! I've never heard anything like that before."

And more chortles. He never wears a bow himself. Said police union head Lorne Shandley: "I personally haven't a clue in the world on police wearing bow ties, but don't imagine the fellows would go for them."

Said Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer: "As far as I'm concerned the idea hasn't much merit."

He said he had never been strangled by assailants hanging on to his tie. "Attackers can hang on to shirts, too," he added thoughtfully.

Chamber of Commerce president G. F. "Pat" Dunn, who leans heavily to bows himself, said he failed to see any particular advantage to the Edmonton police move. He likes bows because they don't dangle over desks.

Buttle Dam Foes Find New Allies In Naturalists

Government Scored For Breaking Faith

The bitter battle of Buttle Lake sizzled again today as the Victoria Naturalist Society appealed to the public to petition Premier Bennett to stop construction of a dam which will inundate the publicly-owned lake.

The society, which has among its members leading scientists, met Monday to protest the action of the government for allowing the B.C. Power Commission to award a contract for construction of a $4,921,875 Upper Campbell lake dam.

The dam will raise the level of Buttle Lake 19 feet, flooding millions of feet of timber.

NOT TOO LATE

J. O. Clay, a spokesman for the society, said the premier and his cabinet "could still" stop construction of the dam and the "save the park from being ruined."

He said the society was most concerned with the principle involved in the controversial issue.

A government set aside the park for the people in perpetuity, he said, and now a government was allowing outside interests to interfere with it.

"What faith can you have in a government which breaks a contract with its people?" he asked.

If the public knew all the facts about Buttle Lake, he said, they would be more than angry at what has gone on.

"Civil servants have been instructed not to express their opinion on the matter," he said. "They have had to suffer in silence."

POWER NOT ENOUGH

Mr. Clay said the flooding of the lake would result in damage to thousands of additional trees on the higher slopes. The amount of additional power to be derived from the scheme is negligible and does not warrant destruction of a park, he said.

The society feels that the B.C. Power Commission can get sufficient power from nearer sources and from the Mainland, he said.

Mr. Clay said the society did not understand why a beautiful area like Buttle Lake was left undeveloped when it was so close to a public highway and only about 700 feet above sea level.

"It's a mystery," he said. "Why has this territory remained closed to the public?"

Mrs. Kenneth C. Drury, vice-president, said the value of a Buttle Lake as a national park is far greater from an economic point of view than a few kilowatts of electricity.

There was ample power in the province, she said, and there was no necessity for flooding the lake.

Mrs. Drury expressed the hope that civic organizations would immediately take action to protest the B.C. Power Commission power project.

Lights, Signals For Death-Strip

Safety Devices Planned For Highway Crossings

Work will start immediately on a system of signals and warning signs at Burnside and Helmcken intersections on the Trans-Canada Highway.

Highways department officials today revealed details of the signal plan, which was prepared as the result of an investigation of intersections on the recently completed highway section, which already has claimed four lives.

Department traffic engineer John Harding carried out the investigation.

LIGHTS PLANNED

The plan calls for installation of a green, amber and red traffic light on Burnside for control of motor vehicles to allow safe crossing of the highway both to and from the city.

Burnside intersection will also have a manually operated pedestrian signal.

Two strong "illuminaires" will flood the crossing with light.

At Helmcken, Scotchlight warning signs reading "Pedestrian Crossing Ahead" will be placed on the highway at each side of the intersection.

A brightly-lit crosswalk sign will be hung above the Helmcken intersection for added protection of pedestrians.

Highways department officials said no action will be taken at present at Tillamook, except for the installation of advance warning signs. Further action may be taken at Tillamook with the completion of a new school nearby.

TESTIMONIAL for heroic action was presented Kenneth Alger, 3015 Earl Grey, Tuesday, by Mayor Claude Harrison. Award to 28-year-old longshoreman came from Royal Canadian Humane Association, commending him for saving the life January 4 at Cowichan of fellow worker Benjamin Bouchard. Bouchard fell off ship loading lumber and started to drift away. Alger went over side on rope and hauled companion to safety. "This is the sort of thing we are all proud of," said mayor.—(Times Photo.)

Normal School Enrolment Up

951 Register So Far, Setting New Record; Expansion Expected

Registrations for Victoria and Vancouver normal schools this year are up 350 over last year, Education Minister Ray Williston announced today.

Mr. Williston said 951 students have applied for normal school training for the fall term, compared with 597 at this time last year.

This year's registration sets a new provincial record.

Total number of student teachers enrolled at the two schools is expected to reach more than 1,000 by the start of the term.

The education minister said the major increase is due to two factors: the Future Teacher Clubs organized last year, which attracted 1,700 members in 87 groups, and the revolving loan fund set up in 1954, which has enabled needy applicants from outlying areas to take normal school training.

The increase in registrations is expected to go a long way toward easing B.C.'s continuing teacher shortage. All 1,000 trainees will be in the province's elementary system next year, if they decide to continue in teaching.

A break-down of this year's applicants shows 351 will attend Victoria normal school, and 601 the Vancouver school.

Registration for previous years in both schools were: 1952, 469; 1953, 420; 1954, 597.

Final number of teacher trainees however reached 771 last year, by the time normal school opened, and this year is expected to show a proportionate increase.

REPORT ON FUTURE

Meanwhile, Mr. Williston also released the findings of a report on the future of education in B.C. prepared by Dr. Cliff Conway of the education department.

The Conway report found that future enrolment in B.C. schools will not level off for at least 35 years. The study, education officials were working on the prediction students coming in, and students completing training, would balance by 1965-1970.

Dr. Conway said "we can look forward to continuous expansion, teacher shortages, and a lack of student accommodation for at least a generation and one-half."

Reeve Urges Crowds See Thomas Honored

Esquimalt reeve A. C. Wurtelle hopes thousands of Greater Victoria citizens show up Saturday evening at Saxe Point park for an unveiling ceremony honoring Bert Thomas' swim victory over Juan de Fuca Strait July 8.

An impressive list of special guests invited to the ceremony will include the acting mayor of Port Angeles, from where Thomas began his historic marathon July 7.

"It won't be a long ceremony, but it will be very nice and we want a large crowd there," the reeve said.

Proceedings get under way at 5 p.m. with the playing of "O Canada" by the 3rd West Coast Harbor Defence Battery band.

The rock into which a bronze plaque denoting significance of the spot has been set, will be draped on each side with the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes. The Canadian red ensign will cover the tablet.

Master of ceremonies Willard Ireland, provincial archivist, will address the gathering, giving a history of Esquimalt and Saxe Point and a resume of Thomas' achievement after four failures to swim the Strait.

The reeve will unveil the inscription and Thomas will be invited to say a few words. It is hoped Mrs. Thomas and daughter Sharon Lee will also be present.

Specially invited are: Dr. J. L. McFadden, acting mayor of Port Angeles; Mayor C. L. Harrison; Reeve Fred Norris, Oak Bay; Reeve Joseph Casey, Saanich; Reeve H. Rupert Brown, Central Saanich; presidents of Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce; publicity director George I. Warren; Commodore Patrick Budge, commanding officer HMCS Naden; Lieut.-Col. John C. Cave, commanding officer Esquimalt Garrison; Victoria Daily Times publisher Stuart Keate; Colonist publisher Seth Halton; William Guild, manager CJVI; David Armstrong, manager CKDA; swim trainer Ove Witt; Thomas' solicitor James Proudfoot; Esquimalt councillors and municipal staff.

Free Concerts Set For Park Bandshell

Victoria Symphony will present a public concert free of charge the afternoon of Sunday, September 11, in the band shell in Beacon Hill Park, it was announced today.

Idea of the concert is to popularize interest in the symphony. Exact time and program will be announced later.

A band concert, under auspices of the City of Victoria, will be presented next Sunday starting at 3 p.m. The 25-piece band in the one and one-half hour program will play light classics under direction of Dr. George H. E. Green.

HOT, BUT FUN

B.C. Scouts At Jamboree Show on TV

By FREEMAN KING
Times Scout Reporter

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont.—It's hot but it's fun!

That's the score today at the jamboree. All the B.C. scouts here are feeling the heat, myself included. During earlier demonstrations 11 scouts passed out but only three were admitted to hospital.

We were cooled a bit yesterday in the misty spray from Niagara Falls. Scouts, in 70 buses, visited the border show place and many crossed to the American side to pick up souvenirs for parents and friends.

They also visited the historic monument to General Brock which dominates the landscape for miles around.

Latest figures for scouts present—11,680.

An idea of the size of the gathering here is found in the cauldrons. More than 60,000 bottles of soft drinks were sold during a recent visitors' day.

The Victoria lads, 45 strong, participated in a television show here, among 2,000 boys taking part from many countries.

The B.C. youths were shown carving totem poles, erecting tents, cooking over charcoal and other scout activities.

At the end of the presentation, all the B.C. boys and French scouts linked arms and marched, singing. The boys from the Gold Coast and Jamaica performed dances in grass skirts; the United States lads did Indian war dances, while the New Zealand contingent performed dances of the Maoris.

One of the most interesting offerings was the dances by scouts from Pakistan. The boys packed high expression into intricate dances which featured traditional and symbolic use of hands.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me if it is possible to get a renewal of my discharge papers from the First World War, as my others have been lost. I was discharged in England. Should I apply to the War Office? V.W.

A.—Yes, if you served in the British army. If in the Canadian army, write to Army Headquarters, Ottawa. Mark the letter: Attention Director of Veterans' Affairs.

Q.—How old is the Margaret Jenkins School? F.D.M.

A.—It was opened Aug. 23, 1915, at the beginning of the fall term following the mid-summer vacation. The opening, with shift of pupils, was recorded in the Daily Times that day on page 14.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Argument will be given Friday in city police court before Magistrate A. I. Thomas as to whether F. J. Schultz must appear in person for a trial on a charge of driving while suspended.

He was represented today by James Proudfoot, who said the charge is under summary convictions and that the accused does not have to appear in person.

He argued it was sufficient that Schultz had obtained a counsel to appear.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow said he would attempt to prove on Friday that Schultz must appear in person at his trial.

Fine of $10 or three days in jail was imposed on Cecil Edward Gallia, 543 Manchester, when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of driving after dark August 9 with only one headlight.

Police said the right headlight had been smashed.

More than 200 pints of blood were donated to B.C.'s Red Cross blood bank Tuesday by men of Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada at Camp Gordon Head. The mobile clinic plans a return engagement in October when the battalion is expected to be at strength.

Rotary Club Empress Hotel ballroom, 12:30 p.m. speaker, Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer Pacific Coast.

Local fire chiefs E. G. Clarys, Oak Bay; Joseph Law, Saanich, and Rod Bayles, Langford, are attending the 24th annual B.C. fire chiefs' convention at Powell River.

No Endorsements On Auto Drivers' New Licences

Endorsements on driver's licences will not be carried on to renewed licences, motor vehicle branch officials said today.

A spokesman said it would be "impossible" to decipher the written magistrate's endorsements on many cards, and that many are blurred and illegible through constant handling.

Renewal of drivers' licences under the five-year licensing plan already has started. First licences issued under the plan expire starting Sept. 1. They expire on the date of the individual motorist's birthday.

However, the motor vehicle branch maintains a complete file on each licence holder, and all convictions are carried in the file.

The files form the basis of the branch's driver warning and suspension program.

3 City Autoists Say Guilty; Fined

Careless driving charges brought fines to three motorists when they entered pleas of guilty in city police court today.

Fine of $50 or 10 days in jail was imposed on Robert D. J. Gilmour, 18, 1600 McRae, Court was told he was involved in a two-car accident Aug. 14 on Finlayson. Total damages were $650.

Albert Edwin Sauter, 1861, Feltham, involved in a two-car collision Aug. 14 at Hillside and Scott, was fined $35 or seven days in jail.

Bengt C. Prebensen, 2220, Cook, was fined $35 or seven days in jail. He was the driver of a car involved in an accident Aug. 17 at Scott and Ryan.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP

Union Club Honors Lieutenant-Governor

Honorary life membership in the Union Club was conferred Tuesday night on Lieut.-Governor Clarence Wallace by club president Col. Aubrey Kent at a dinner attended by 145 members.

Members sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and accorded His Honor a standing ovation both at the beginning and end of his acceptance address.

Col. Kent praised Governor Wallace's warm hospitality and outstanding conduct of his office over the past five years. (His Honor is due to retire at the end of this month.)

In an extemporaneous reply, His Honor thanked club members for the loyal support they had given him and Mrs. Wallace during his term of office, paying particular tribute to the contribution made by his wife.

Between 1950 and 1953, His Honor said, Government House had played host to 29,585 persons. In his official capacity as Her Majesty's representative, the Governor had signed 22,500 bills and sworn in 21 ministers of the Crown.

Mr. Wallace said the factor which had impressed him most about his office was "the intense loyalty of the people of British Columbia to Her Majesty, and to the Crown concept." This was evident all over the province, he remarked, in his contacts with such organizations as the churches, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, CNIB, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, Sea Cadets, and other community services.

Curriculum is similar to that of Royal Roads Canadian Services College, with the exception that it accepts cadets with junior matriculation.

ABOVE AVERAGE

Alvin graduated in June from Mount View High School, an above-average student who had been recommended for advancement during his two final years at school.

He wrote entrance exams and faced an examining board in Vancouver last month and his parents received word Tuesday he had been accepted.

A former YMCA leader, Alvin was for the past four years a member of HMCS Rainbow Sea Cadets and in summer camp at Halifax last year qualified for petty officer rate.

Clouds going sun due back

If you object to the cloudy skies over Victoria as of this morning, be of good cheer. Ignore the clouds—they're going away.

The weatherman admits they are taking their time about it, but believes tomorrow will be mostly sunny. Temperatures should be a bit warmer, and the official thermometer on Gonzales Hill expected to register 64. In more sheltered areas, the mercury will reach the high sixties.

And, despite clouds, there's no rain in the offing, the weatherman adds.

Naden Band at PNE Today; Canada Tour Being Planned

Appearance at the Pacific National Exhibition of the 45-man band from HMCS Naden may be only the first stop in a tour of Canada as far east as Hamilton.

The band was leading unit in the opening parade for the annual exhibition today, and will hold concerts daily at the Armed Services' Leave Centre display. Wednesday through Saturday, the Naden band plus a 48-man honor guard will conduct the sunset ceremonies in front of the grandstand.

In the planning stage now is a month-long tour, starting Sept. 15, which would take the group to Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario. Arrangements are being made to play concerts in all major cities, and many smaller communities.

Although details of the tour have yet to be worked out by naval authorities, it seems likely Canada's inland cities will see and hear the unit which has become so popular with Victorians.

Basically a military band, the group is versatile enough to give excellent renditions of light classical and popular music. It plays for dances and other social functions for naval personnel here, and is in constant demand for civilian performances, especially in aid of charity.

The band is made up of navy men from every province in Canada from Western Ontario to B.C. It is trained under the guidance of Lieut.-Cmdr. H. G. Cuthbert, director of HMCS Naden school of music.

Bandmaster is CPO Emile Michaux, and drum major is PO Gordon Brown.

New Chromium Warmer Rack
Is Light and Adjustable

By PENNY SAVER

One of the ideas that has caught on and is here to stay is that of the warming racks, chafing dishes and the like. With the help of a little tablet of canned heat, or a votive candle, foods will stay piping hot and ready to be served all during the meals. Some dishes, though, just don't seem to fit into the rack properly, and you find that you're rather limited in the use of the device. That is, you were limited. No longer, because you can buy a rack now that's adjustable. You can fit round bowls, dishes or pans into the rack, or, by merely adjusting the accordion-like bottom, fit in oblong or square dishes, too.

This rack is made of lightweight chromium, that will stay shiny and presentable for ages. Just wipe it off, and there it is, just like new. You'll love it. Renew the votive candle every now and then, and that's all the care it needs. It has a very presentable price, too. Just $2.95. A super gift, and a welcome item in any household.

Here's something else for the house. In fact, it's just for the housewife who loves to bake. It's a ball-bearing rolling pin. The handles are made of polished walnut, while the roller is of northern hardwood, polished to a high sheen. The handles are shaped so that you get a good grip on them, and after you've finished using the rolling pin, just hang it up on a hook by the handle. This is a sure-fire way to please that someone special, and who knows, you might even get an extra-special pie out of it, too!

So as not to neglect the man in the house, here's an item for him, too. I saw hand-woven tweed ties in town, that would look terrific with his favorite sport jacket. Or how about one with that solid-colored suit? These ties will go everywhere, and will be admired all along the way. Patterns and mixtures to please even the most fussy men, these ties cost just $2.25. Go in and take a look at them. For the whereabouts of items mentioned, call me at 2-3131, and I'll be glad to help you.

Exchange Marriage Vows in September

Dr. and Mrs. William Kenneth Murchie, 2089 Granite Street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Sheila Myrtle, to Mr. Bryan Embree Reid, son of Mrs. John Ellis Reid, 630 Gorge Road, and the late Mr. Reid. The wedding will take place in St. Luke's Church, Sept. 10, at 2:30 p.m. Miss Murchie has chosen Miss Patricia Dawson as maid of honor, and Misses Trudy Cain and Shirley Nutter as bridesmaids. Best man will be the groom-elect's brother, Mr. Stuart Reid, and ushers, Mr. Bernard Bing, Mr. Arthur Miller, and Dr. Kenneth E. Murchie. (Photo of Miss Murchie by Dolph Zubick, Seattle, and Mr. Reid by Robert Fort.)

In Honor
Of the Bride

In honor of Miss Lorraine Heard, Mrs. G. Birtwistle and Mrs. W. Ballantyne entertained with a linen shower at the home of the latter in the Butchart gardens. Corsages of roses and sweet peas were presented to Miss Heard, to her mother, Mrs. A. J. Heard, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. M. Wiens. A blue and white container decorated with fresh pink flowers held the gifts. Other invited guests were Mrs. C. Quest, Mrs. K. Aitken, Mrs. A. Robertson, Mrs. V. Webb, Mrs. Q. Blunt, Mrs. L. Pears, Mrs. M. MacPherson, Mrs. M. Dunford, Mrs. E. Roberts, Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. E. Philion, Miss N. Hind and Miss E. Wiens. Refreshments were served and a decorated shower cake cut in honor of the occasion.

Marriage Vows in Chemainus Church

A wedding was solemnized last Saturday in Saint Michael and All Angels' Church at Chemainus, when Rev. Alan Howes united in marriage, Barbara Louise, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Davis of Chemainus and Keith Samuel Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Johnston of Duncan.

The bride wore a strapless gown of embossed lace and tulle over satin with matching jacket. Her finger tip embossed lace veil was held with a bandeau of mother of pearl and her bouquet was American Beauty roses and stephanotis. For a lucky "something old," the cross from her great-grandmother's rosary was tucked into the bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Danna Paul, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of yellow lace and tulle over taffeta and carried golden carnations and fern.

Bridesmaid, Miss Joan Clarke chose turquoise blue lace and tulle and carried pale yellow carnations. Cousin of the bride, Miss Shirley Alice Davis, as junior bridesmaid wore a deep pink gown and her flowers were pink carnations.

Two dainty flower girls, Carol Johnston, niece of the groom and Merrill Reid, Victoria, wore identical gowns of mauve embossed organza with matching headresses and carried baskets of summer flowers.

Len Bradstead, RCAF station, Cold Lake, Alta., was best man and ushers, Robert Bennett and Amy Moulin. Wedding music was played by Frank Mantle.

Mrs. Helen Manning, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Merrill, sang "My Prayer" during signing the register.

A reception and wedding supper for 200 guests was held in the Canadian Legion auditorium, where the mothers of the bride and groom assisted in receiving guests. Toast was proposed by Ed Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left later for a honeymoon in the United States, the bride traveling in a dress of ice blue crystalline with matching duster, blue and white accessories and shrimp-toned cashmere top coat to which was pinned an orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Alice M. Reid with John and Merrill, Helen Cunningham, June and Wendy Gordon, Albert Reid, and Mrs. D. Paul, all of Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Alex White and son Joe and daughter Shirley of Hammond; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fournier, daughter Arlene and son Barry of Port Moody; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. D. Egan of Bella Coola; Mrs. Kay Haddon, aunt of the bride from Fort Langley; and Mrs. Crawford of Port Langley; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Lakedit, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sundquist of Nanaimo, and Mr. Len Bradstead RCAF Station, Cold Lake, Alta.

Vacation Visit at William Head

Mrs. Carl Bell with Sharon and Carl Jr., have come with Mr. Bell from their home in Buffalo, N.Y., to spend a month's vacation with Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hawkins at their home at William Head. The Bells have many friends here and are renewing these acquaintances during their visit.

Barnes-Davies Wedding Ceremony Solemnized in St. Mary's Church

Miss Betty Davies, RN, of Winnipeg, became the bride of Lieut. Ernest Roy Barnes, RCHA, recently in a ceremony in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay. Archdeacon A. E. del Nunn officiated. White gladioli were placed at the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eufryn Davies, Port Talbot, South Wales, and her groom, also of Winnipeg, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.

In Honor of the Bride

Honoring Miss Jean McLennan, bride-elect of this Saturday, Mrs. H. E. Hubbard, mother of the groom-elect, and Mrs. T. H. Evans entertained last Saturday at a garden reception at the home of Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Hubbard, 1157 Metcalfe Road. Miss McLennan was presented with a dainty corsage of pink roses and blue larkspur. Her mother, Mrs. R. M. McLennan, received a corsage of pink carnations and heather. Arrangements of tables and chairs on the lawn with flower borders in the background made a charming setting. The long tea table was covered with a Madeira banquet cloth centred with a vase of pale pink and green gladioli. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. H. M. Bolton and Mrs. R. S. E. Waterman. Those serving were Mrs. T. H. Evans, Mrs. M. Evans, Mrs. K. Reid, Mrs. Asen, Mrs. Fergus Reid, Mrs. H. Sinnott, Mrs. R. Ketterer, and little Miss Sharon Sinnott. There were 50 guests.

Mrs. R. Ketterer, 2185 Cubbon Drive entertained with a linen shower in honor of Miss McLennan recently. Gardenias and white carnations were presented to the guest of honor, while her mother, Mrs. R. McLennan, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. H. Hubbard, received gladioli corsages. A decorated container held the gifts. Other guests present were Mrs. W. Zozula, Mrs. R. Lipsey, Mrs. E. Davies, Mrs. H. Sinnott, Mrs. R. Waterman, Mrs. F. Dobie, Mrs. T. Evans, Mrs. M. O'Hanlon, Mrs. L. Powell, and Mrs. D. Davidson.

A blue and yellow decorated basket concealed many miscellaneous gifts for bride-elect, Miss Kay Angus, at a shower given in her honor by Mrs. G. F. Haller, 1180 Reynolds Road. Miss Angus received a corsage of pink carnations, while her mother, Mrs. P. Angus, received peach gladioli. A shower cake inscribed "Best Wishes Kay" centred the refreshment table. Guests present were Mrs. A. L. Trimble, Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. J. Bandy and Miss Nancy Price.

Miss Adrienne Dawson, this Saturday's bride-elect, was honored with a party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dawson, 2837 Parkview drive, recently. Guests at the no-host party placed gaily wrapped miscellaneous gifts on a decorated table for the bride-elect. White gladioli blooms centred with red roses were in the corsage presented to Miss Dawson, while her mother, Mrs. Dawson, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. T. Wilson, received pink carnations and gladioli. Present were Mrs. A. McLaren, Mrs. R. McLaren, Mrs. J. McLaren, Mrs. M. McLaren, Mrs. W. Florence, Mrs. D. Thom, Mrs. H. Duffield, Mrs. B. Stevens, Mrs. W. Boyd, Mrs. K. Sykes, Mrs. W. Moore, Mrs. G. Hepburn, Mrs. G. O'Neill, Mrs. C. O'Neill, Mrs. W. Donaldson, Mrs. C. Mills and Miss Joan Thom.

Mrs. H. C. Steel and Miss Penny Steele entertained at their home on St. Ann Street recently with a miscellaneous shower in honor of bride-elect Miss Iolene Clements. A pink and white basket held the many gifts. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. A. J. Clements; the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. D. C. Grant; maid of honor, Miss Donalds Clements; and bridesmaids, Mrs. Ron Webster and Mrs. Cecil Zado.

Double Wedding in Nanaimo

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Riecken of Langford wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughters, Ardith Jane, to Mr. Michael Roscoe, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Roscoe of Trail, B.C., and Beverly Ann to Mr. Robert Frances Little, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Little of Nanaimo. The double wedding will take place in St. Andrew's United Church at Nanaimo on Friday, Sept. 2 at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Robert Moses will officiate.

Farewell Parties for Visitor

Prior to her departure for her home in Redding, Eng., after a six-month stay in Victoria with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Cove, and their family, Mrs. Jessie Ellen Cove is being much feted by relatives and new friends.

Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson had a group of Mrs. Cove's friends in for whisky at their home, 2643 Prior Street, and later in the week Mr. and Mrs. Reg Young will entertain with an evening of games at their Dallas Road home. On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Buxton will entertain with a late evening party in honor of Mrs. Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cessford entertained at an evening of bingo recently at their home on Hibberson Crescent and last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cove were hosts at a beach party.

Mrs. Cove will leave Victoria next Sunday and en route to eastern Canada will spend a month visiting relatives in the Prairie Provinces. She will sail from the Atlantic seaboard on Sept. 26 aboard the Empress of Australia.

Party for Affianced Couple

Young married couples enjoyed an evening party planned to honor Miss Emeline Higgins and Mr. Tom Ellwood at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Draper, 540 Snelling Street. The party was in the form of a Stanley Products demonstration, with Mrs. A. G. Biggs, Stanley hostess, demonstrating. From the display the guests of honor chose articles and premiums which were presented to them as a group gift from assembled guests. A gardenia corsage was presented to Miss Higgins and one of pink carnations to her mother, Mrs. F. Higgins. Other guests were Mr. F. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. G. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bent, Mr. and Mrs. A. Leech, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ratcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. H. Bootsman.

Leaves for Training Camp

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Heberton and their wee son Clayton, left by plane on Monday for Winnipeg where they will spend a short holiday with Mr. Heberton's parents before he reports to the New York Rangers' training camp at Saskatoon.

New Home in Victoria

Dr. William L. Ford with Mrs. Ford and their daughters, Arden and Stephanie, have come from Ottawa to make their home in Victoria. At present they are guests of Dr. Ford's mother, Mrs. J. L. Ford, at her home on Linden Avenue. Dr. Ford will take over the position of superintendent of the Pacific Naval Laboratory at Esquimalt on Sept. 1.

Wedding Guests

Guests from eastern provinces, the States and B.C. cities attended the recent wedding of Miss Betty Davies, RN, to Lieut. Ernest Roy Barnes, RCHA, in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay. Here for the occasion were Lieut. and Mrs. C. M. E. West and Lieut. and Mrs. R. E. Gorham, Winnipeg, Man.; Mrs. E. Norton, Orcas Island, Wash.; Mrs. S. F. Newell, grandmother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Newell, Mill Bay, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Len Coomber and Mr. and Mrs. J. Zarelli, Vancouver; Mrs. Gladys Elmholtz, West Vancouver; Mr. Joseph Garner and Mr. Dick Garner, White Rock, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Desty, Orillia, Ont., and Mr. Gordon West, Holberg, B.C.

Summer Visitors

Miss Gladys Elmholtz, formerly of Victoria, and now of Los Angeles, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Ethel Johns, at her home on Dufferin Street. She expects to be in the city for another two weeks.

Mrs. C. Quick and her son, Mr. Carl Quick, of Marysville, B.C., and Miss Frances Findlay, who motored to Victoria last week and spent a few days at Langford, left today to spend a few days in Vancouver before returning home. While in Langford they stayed at the home of Mrs. Quick's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Erickson, Station Road, and visited another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pellett, Millstream Road. Mrs. Erickson had returned Monday from Summerland, B.C., where she spent a short holiday.

Great Day

The Coronation of Queen Victoria in 1838 drew 400,000 country visitors to London.

'Care' Expands Indo-China Aid

OTTAWA — CARE aid for "Bamboo Curtain" refugees and other needy people in Free Indo-China is being extended to Laos as well as to Vietnam, where CARE was the first private agency to come to the aid of the Indo-Chinese people after the cease-fire.

On information from its mission chief that actual famine conditions exist in Laos, CARE is now readying for immediate distribution to Laotian refugees and needy farmers who are suffering from two successive droughts a series of four special food, mosquito netting, cotton clothing material and blanket packages, ranging in price from $4 to $6.

The special food package, available to Canadian donors at $5, contains over 25 pounds of rice, salted fish, sea salt and other nourishing foods, all chosen with a view to dietary needs and customs of the Laotian people. The cotton package, at $6, contains 10 yards of cotton drill, 1,600 yards of sewing thread, 25 sewing needles, 64 buttons, a towel and a pound of laundry soap; a 30x7½-foot mosquito net is $5; and the woolen blanket package, $4. Distribution of food and other packages for Vietnam and Laos is closely supervised by CARE mission personnel and is strictly on the basis of need. Orders for any of these packages, or contributions in any amount to the CARE aid program for non-Communist Indo-China, may be sent to CARE-Canada, 116 O'Connor Street, Ottawa. Donors who contribute the full price of any of these packages will receive the customary CARE overseas receipt signed by the recipient family or institution.

Pastor Can Help Girl in Trouble

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a girl's mother is dead and her father has little interest in his children or little sympathy for them, the best place for her to turn for help is to her pastor.

Hurlock

(Q)—I am 15 years old and quite mature for my age. My mother died when I was only three and I have been deprived of a mother's love and guiding hand. My father drinks and often stays all night in taverns away from home. The next day he sleeps until late in the afternoon and beats us kids if we get in his way. For the past five years, I have been working to earn enough money for food and clothing for my five brothers and sisters and myself. The little I manage to save, my father drinks up. Now I am in a difficult situation. To put it bluntly, I am expecting a baby in six months. I do not know who the father is and have no one to turn to. I am afraid to tell my father as he will only beat me as he always does. I am desperate, so please tell me what to do.

(A)—Go to your pastor at once and tell him about your problem. If you do not belong to any church, go to the pastor of your mother's faith. Any pastor, in fact, would help a girl in your position.

A girl your age should not have the responsibility of supporting and taking care of five children. And since your father is certainly not a suitable guardian for them, it would be better for the pastor to have them placed in a foster home where they will get proper care.

After your baby is born you should be placed in a foster home, too, where you will get proper care and have a chance to complete your schooling. You are legally too young to be working and to have no guidance. With the proper kind of home you can begin life afresh, forgetting the mistakes you have made.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

College Commands New Responsibilities for Youths

There are currents in the air; a certain excitement pervades the younger set. They are rushing about, caught in a frantic combination of last-minute fun and preparations for college. There is always a nostalgic mood at this time of year. We are sorry that summer and vacation time are over. We hate saying goodbye to friends and yet we feel zestful as we get ready for the first peppy whiff of fall.

Today, I direct my remarks to the youngsters, breathlessly awaiting their first trip to college.

College is a small, concentrated bit of life, much like you'll find it in the working world later on.

College life is a splendid training period for those later years because you are on your own to a great extent. Also, the qualities which create success in college are much the same as those which will build success in later years.

You will have to learn to get along with people, with all kinds of people. You will come in contact with types you have never known before and will be exposed to ideas which are new to you. You will have to be open minded and tolerant without losing your own set of standards and beliefs.

In the community of college you will have to carry your own weight. If you are to be unusually successful you will find that giving a little more in energy and friendship than is required of you will bring you great rewards.

You will have to learn to live in close contact with many people. In these crowded conditions you cannot afford to allow irritating habits of others to bother you or to be thoughtless, yourself of others.

With the first taste of independence you will have a tendency to abuse it. But, remember, the fact that you do not have your parents to guide and protect you places a special responsibility on you. Recognize this tendency in yourself and control it with good judgment.

Many of you will be choosing your meals for the first time and you will be able to stay up as late as you wish. Guard your health because there can be little success or happiness without it. If you eat incorrectly and lose a lot of sleep habitually, you will not have the pep with which to carry out your work program or to enjoy the social and athletic life of the campus.

You girls will be placing a terrible strain on your good looks, too. Hair and complexion and posture are all influenced by the way you eat and live.

Many of you will be choosing your meals for the first time and you will be able to stay up as late as you wish. Guard your health because there can be little success or happiness without it. If you eat incorrectly and lose a lot of sleep habitually, you will not have the pep with which to carry out your work program or to enjoy the social and athletic life of the campus.

You girls will be placing a terrible strain on your good looks, too. Hair and complexion and posture are all influenced by the way you eat and live.

With the first taste of independence you will have a tendency to abuse it. But, remember, the fact that you do not have your parents to guide and protect you places a special responsibility on you. Recognize this tendency in yourself and control it with good judgment.

It's Just the Right Time For Plum Jam and Jelly

Purple plums are in every market now and that means it's jam and jelly time. So let's get going.

PLUM JELLY AND JAM

Yield: about 10 medium glasses (5 pounds) jelly and 12 medium glasses (6 pounds) jam.

Requires: about 4 pounds ripe Italian plum plums, 8 lemons, 6½ pounds sugar, and 1 bottle liquid fruit pectin.

First, prepare the fruit. Crush (do not peel or pit) about 4 pounds fully ripe Italian plum plums. Add 2 cups water; bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Place in a large sieve lined with a double thickness of cheesecloth. Stir, but do not press. Drain and measure 3½ cups juice into a very large saucepan. Remove pits from pulp. Use juice for making jelly; use pulp remaining in sieve for making jam.

PLUM JAM

Three and one-half cups plum juice, 7½ cups (3¼ pounds) sugar, ½ cup lemon juice (4 lemons), ½ bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Then make the jam. Measure plum pulp and sugar into a very large saucepan and mix well. Squeeze and strain the juice sugar, ½ cup lemon juice (4 lemons), ½ bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Second, make the jelly. To plum juice in saucepan, add sugar and mix well. Squeeze and strain the juice from 4 medium-sized lemons. Measure ½ cup into saucepan with plum juice and sugar. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in liquid fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam with metal spoon, and pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with ½-inch hot paraffin.

PLUM JAM

Four cups plum pulp, 7½ cups (3¼ pounds) sugar, ½ cup lemon juice (4 lemons), ½ bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Then make the jam. Measure plum pulp and sugar into a very large saucepan and mix well. Squeeze and strain the juice from 4 medium-sized lemons. liquid fruit pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover jam at once with ½-inch hot paraffin.

RIPE, PURPLE PLUMS, delicious in themselves, give just the right flavor for glasses of jams and jellies.

TODAY'S RECIPE

REFRIGERATOR FIG COOKIES

1 cup dried figs, 1 cup walnuts, ¾ cup soft shortening, 1½ cups brown sugar (packed), 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Finely chop figs; chop walnuts very fine. Measure shortening, brown sugar, egg and milk into a large bowl. Beat until well blended. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon directly into creamed mixture. Add figs and nuts, and mix to a moderately stiff dough. Pack into empty brown sugar or butter cartons. Chill in freezing unit of refrigerator until very firm, about 3 hours or overnight. When ready to bake, cut dough with a sharp knife into slices about ¼-inch thick. Bake on ungreased cookie sheets in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.), for 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool thoroughly before storing in airtight containers. About 5 dozen cookies.

Working Holiday

LONDON (CP)—Roehampton district sisters Dorothy and Margo Burnside have set out on a year's continental working holiday in a 1930 Rolls-Royce. The sisters, schoolteachers in their early 20s, bought the vehicle for £80. It had been used formerly for funerals and weddings.

$100 MILLIONS A YEAR INDUSTRY

Don't Be Fooled by Cane —It Could Be Key to Riches

By WILLIAM HARCOURT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (CP) — The next gentleman you see out walking with a cane may be looking for uranium. The cane could be a geiger counter.

That's the latest gimmick in the mushrooming business of supplying amateur uranium prospectors. Uranium mining in the United States now is a $100,000,000-a-year business. The government guarantees the price of $7,000 a ton for uranium refined from ore containing 10 per cent uranium. In addition, the government offers a bonus of $35,000 for each strike of high-grade ore.

Deposits have been found in almost all of the United States. Picknickers who took along a geiger counter have come back potential millionaires.

Supplying these week-end prospectors has become a big business. SPEAKER CLICKS

The cane, an aluminum affair, sells for $39.50 complete with a cigarette-package-sized speaker to let you hear the clicks that might mean millions.

Or if you prefer to hunt the ore from your own helicopter, there's a more complicated device neatly packed in a smart leather dispatch case—only $2,000—and with it you can plot the layout of your ore deposit.

"Why waste your time fishing when you could be looking for uranium," says the proprietor of a new mid-town store selling the ore-detecting equipment. "No one's going to pay you $35,000 for a speckled trout."

Two basic instruments are used to hunt uranium: the geiger counter, and the scintillation counter. The geiger counter essentially is a tube of gas that reacts to the gamma rays given off by uranium. Use of the transistor—the tiny metallic device rapidly replacing vacuum tubes in electronic equipment—has made possible a geiger counter so compact and light it fits in a cane.

The scintillation counter uses a sodium iodide crystal instead of a gas tube and is much more sensitive, complicated and expensive.

In Canada, amateur uranium hunting isn't nearly as popular as it is in the United States, despite the fact the Canadian shield—Hudson bay as far down as the Great Lakes—is rated one of the best places to look for the ore.

'Leave' Plan For Headingly

Manitoba Asks Permission To Allow Prisoner Holidays

Chess Master Bohatirchuk Upsets Joyner

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Fedor Bohatirchuk, 63-year-old cancer researcher at the University of Ottawa, pulled a major upset in the 52nd national chess tournament Tuesday night by handing Lionel Joyner his first defeat.

The loss cut the 23-year-old Montreal accountant's tournament lead to half a point. It was Joyner's first failure in eight games of the 11-round tournament.

Dr. Bohatirchuk, a Russian-born international chess master who placed third in the Canadian championships at Vancouver in 1951, played the white and earned his victory in 41 moves. Joyner played a Sicilian defence.

Dr. Bohatirchuk now is in third place with five points.

TIE FOR SECOND

Ross Siemens and defending champion Frank Anderson maintained their tie for second place with victories over George Ralich of Edmonton and Paul Vatonis of Hamilton, respectively. Each has six points, one-half behind Joyner.

Ivan Suk of Toronto took 48 moves to beat Walter Jurjevskis of Vancouver.

CHELMSFORD, England (CP)—Installation of a dish-washing machine at the hospital in this Essex community has saved £30 in breakages in three months.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government is planning a daring innovation at Headingly jail, scene of two riots and other minor disturbances within the last nine months.

The province has asked the federal government for permission to allow some inmates of the provincial jail, 16 miles west of Winnipeg, a 48-hour "ticket of leave" every three months.

The plan was recommended in the report of a three-man commission set up to investigate the institution as a result of a riot there Dec. 18.

The commission, headed by sheriff D. C. M. Kyle, proposed that, once every three months during the term of their sentences, prisoners "whose good conduct merits special recognition" be allowed a 48-hour "home leave" pass which would allow them to leave the jail without escort.

TO ASSIST REHABILITATION

The commission suggested the prisoners granted this privilege be selected by a three-member committee. The thought behind the leave is to allow prisoners to approach prospective employers, to let them deal with domestic and personal problems and to renew home and family ties, thus assisting in their rehabilitation.

The jail houses men serving terms of up to two years less a day. In recent years the jail population has numbered around 350.

During the December riot inmates caused some $12,000 damage to the jail.

Russia Wants Peace Says Canadian Envoy

MONTREAL (BUP)—Career diplomat John Booth Watkins flew home today convinced that Russia sincerely wants to end the cold war.

Watkins, who has spent 15 months in Moscow as Canadian ambassador and formerly was charge d'affaires there for 2½ years, told reporters the new look in Soviet relations with the West had spread to day-to-day contact.

"I think the Russians are sincere," he said. The ambassador arrived in Montreal aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane and left his home today convinced that Russia sincerely wants to end the cold war.

He planned to stay in Ontario on leave and report to Ottawa Sept. 6 to brief External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson on the Soviet situation. He will return to Russia before Pearson starts a scheduled visit to the Soviet Union early in October.

Parsloe Calm as Lawyers Query Probe Evidence

Fails to Recall Names Of Underworld 'Contacts'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A former RCMP criminal investigator Tuesday remained unruffled as two lawyers flung biting attacks at him, his confidential report of an undercover investigation and his account of money spent in his assignment.

Terrence Gordon Parsloe, 45-year-old security officer, was commissioned in 1950 to carry out an undercover inquiry into charges of graft in the Vancouver police force, similar to charges now being investigated by the Tupper royal commission.

Parsloe's report had cleared police chief Walter Mulligan and other senior officers of accusations involving payoffs from the gambling fraternity.

Lawyer Neil Fleishman flung charges that Parsloe had never written the report.

"I put it to you that you didn't

Can't Recall Names of 'Contacts'

Lawyer G. L. Murray, counsel for the Vancouver distributors of Flash, charged Parsloe had "cleared the police chief with a report from the underworld."

"Who are these 'contacts,' these 'people in the know'?" asked Mr. Murray.

"I don't know, I can't recall their names, now," said Parsloe. Most of the persons he had talked to "were connected" with the underworld, he said.

Asked how he knew the names Bruce Snider, Bancroft and McDonald he had earlier mentioned as city bookmakers, Parsloe replied he heard "rumors they were operating."

"There were also rumors Snider was ascending... getting control of gambling, but I couldn't pin them down," said Parsloe.

Parsloe said he had visited many "drinking clubs" during the course

Secret Agents 'Tail' Secret Agents

The investigation, which he said at some times saw agents shadowing other agents to check their information, said of the underworld's estimate of chief Mulligan:

"There were references that Mulligan would pinch his own grandmother."

As the investigation proceeded, Parsloe said, he "invented a fictitious lawyer, working for people in the East" and trying to "put the fix in" for Toronto gambling syndicates.

"If I had said I was working sub-rosa for the city council, I he said, "I was investigating the back of a horse in the mounted section." He quit, rejoining several months later.

He became head of criminal investigation for the RCMP on the west coast in the early 1940s.

"I spent a year in North Battleford, Sask., in—I think—1945 at my own request."

He was a detective sergeant when he was retired for health reasons in 1948 and now works as security officer for the Powell River Co.

His 1950 report has been labelled "this $1,700 bucket of whitewash," by Mr. Oliver.

It said the underworld treated with amusement any suggestion that top police officers could be "got to."

Parsloe testified that he did not question Cuthbert or Det. Sgt. Leatherdale, who brought charges of graft and offers of graft before Mr. Thompson.

Leatherdale, said Parsloe, "is one of the most honest policemen I have ever known."

His information on Cuthbert, he said, was that he was "a fellow who always had his hand out."

"That was about all I could get."

289 New Meters To Be Installed On City Streets

An additional 289 parking meters will be installed soon in downtown Victoria, city council decided Tuesday.

Of these, 51 will be one-hour meters and the remainder two-hour.

Mayor Claude Harrison said the new installations will scare tourists away.

One-hour parking zones will be Douglas Street, Herald to Chatham, 15 meters; Courtney, Douglas to Blanshard, 36 meters.

Two-hour zones will be Douglas, Humboldt to Belleville, 50 meters; Yates, Quadra to Vancouver, 56 meters.

Fort, Quadra to Vancouver, 40 meters; View, Blanshard to Quadra, 31 meters; Johnson, Blanshard to Quadra, 33 meters, and Blanshard, Broughton to Courtney, 28 meters.

You can buy crayon sticks to fill in and stain small scratches on mahogany or walnut woods. Apply the crayon, then rub with an oiled pad. After you've finished the spot repairing, go over the entire surface of the furniture with your regular wax or polish.

Horace Heidt Here Tonight

Ticket Sales Reach 3,500; More Available to Show Time

More than 3,500 people will flock to Memorial Arena tonight to see the Horace Heidt talent show. Arena ticket sales officials said this morning that 3,500 tickets have been sold for the two and one-half hour stage show. Tickets were on sale this morning at Eaton's Music Centre and will be available up to show time at Memorial Arena. Heidt's troupe was to arrive here at about 3 this afternoon. They will later hold a closed rehearsal before show time.

The show will begin at 8 p.m. Over 40 performers with the regular Heidt show and five local youngsters will appear on stage. Sponsors of the talent parade, the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Victoria branch, will donate half its net proceeds to Solarium Building Fund coffers. Local talent appearing with the show are Diana Bruntlett, 14; Irene Janik, 18, and Bill and Jack Culton and Ron Jenkins from Shawnigan Lake.

Interior Hotelman Died by Drowning

VERNON (CP)—Coroner Dr. J. E. Harvey, at an inquiry Tuesday found that Delbert J. Dell Robinson came to his death Monday by drowning in Okanagan Lake, 300 yards west of his exclusive resort, Dell Cliff Lodge. Mr. Robinson, who was 37, was born in New Brunswick and settled in the Okanagan in the early 1920's. He was widely known in the hotel business throughout the Pacific northwest. He had operated Dell Cliff Lodge since 1945.

THEY STILL REMEMBER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tuesday was the 29th anniversary of the death of Rudolph Valentino. Latin matinee idol of the silent screen, and it did not pass unnoticed. Three floral tributes were placed at his crypt in Hollywood cemetery mausoleum, but Ditta Flame, known as the "Woman in Black" because of her annual visits to the crypt in mourning garb, did not appear. Last year she announced that she was making her last visit.

Girl Spelling Wizard Boning for $32,000

Polysyllabic Sentence Got Colored Gloria $16,000 on TV; Family Now in Conference
NEW YORK (UP)—Little Gloria Lockerman, the 12-year-old Negro spelling champ who ran her winnings to $16,000 on a TV giveaway show, rides back home to Baltimore today for some boning up with the dictionary and family conferences about her TV future.

Gloria, smiling and pert in a new navy blue orquid dress, confidently spelled her way through a polysyllabic sentence on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" to earn a possible shot next Tuesday at $32,000. Indications were that Gloria would go for the bigger money. Her divorced parents, James Lockerman and Vivian Singleton, both of Philadelphia, seemed to favor a go-ahead. "The important thing is Gloria's future," said her father. "We don't want the publicity to affect her life in any way." "But," he added, "I believe in shooting for the moon if you jump a picket fence." Gloria's mother said: "She hasn't got anything to lose since she had nothing to start with. And she's assured of $4,000 anyway." Mrs. Singleton referred to the $4,000 the producers of the show give as a consolation prize to any contestant who reaches the upper levels in the TV question-and-answer game. Gloria's father and mother both said they hoped to hold a

(A) "THE PRIVATE WAR OF MAJOR BENSON" (Odeon—starts tomorrow):—This thoroughly preposterous story of a hard-bitten army major being placed in command of a Roman Catholic boys prep school miraculously turns out to be a heart-warming romp through laughter-land.

The fun begins when Major Benson, (Charlton Heston), a permanent force officer of the old "blood-and-guts" school, is raked over the coals by his superiors for his outspoken contempt for the official kid glove treatment of army rookies. As a disciplinary measure he is appointed commandant of a military academy that caters to lads ranging from six to 15 years of age. His task is to buck up their drill for the school is in serious danger of losing its ROTC standing.

AFTER HE HAS RECOVERED from his initial chagrin over his minor appointment, Major Benson settles down to run the school under strict military discipline. He rants and roars and nags and hands out demerits in fine style. Slowly the sloppy drill improves—cadet-officers forego their yo-yos, even minute Tiger (Tim Hovey) learns to keep his trousers from falling down while on parade. Thanks to the indomitable major the winless football team wins the inter-school trophy. But in spite of all these things the boys' hate for Major Benson grows and grows.

WHILE THE HIKES BETWEEN the boys and the major provide most of the merriment a note of genuine understanding is injected by the flowering love affair between Major Benson and academy doctor Julie Adams. There also appears a growing accord between the hard-bitten commandant and gentle mother superior Nana Bryant. In these days, when the accent appears to be on juvenile delinquency, sex and stories of violence, a play of this order is a refreshing surprise. And, in addition to the principals, bouquets are in order to Jerry Hopper for his understanding direction that rarely allows the youngsters to take precedence over their elders and managers, somehow, to bring both into gentle focus.

WHEREAS ALL THE boys, including Tim Considine and Sam Mingo, perform nicely it is wee Tim Hovey who is bound to steal the hearts of all. He may or may not turn

VICTORIA FOOTBALL FANS MAY SEE GREY CUP GAME

FOOTBALL AND TV—Well, we're not going to get the actual Lions' games on TV this year by the looks of things but we're going to get something.

Chrysler of Canada will sponsor all telecasts of Canadian football games this season, according to press dispatches. An announcement to this effect was made Tuesday by E. C. Row, president and general manager of Chrysler, and Alphonse Oumet, general manager of the CBC.

In the western loop, two games of the western conference will be televised most weeks, and every western TV station will receive most appropriate and interesting game each week. These will be on a delayed basis, since no interconnections yet exist in the western and Pacific regions.

In the east, 10 connected stations will televise from 20 to 26 games each, and the three non-connected stations will televise 14 games during the season. Mr. Oumet estimated that 4,500,000 persons would see the televised games.

He further ruled that stations located in cities in which the games are being played will not be allowed to carry the telecast the day the game is played. In most instances, however, they may carry a game on the following or other days. These restrictions apply only to the regularly scheduled league games.

The Grey Cup final scheduled to be played in Vancouver on Nov. 26 will be carried live to the interconnected network, including Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, London, Windsor, Kitchener, Barrie, Hamilton, Peterborough and Kingston.

According to CBC officials in Vancouver, a contract is now being negotiated to telecast the game live in Vancouver. Thus we, in Victoria, would be able to witness this greatest of Canadian sports spectacles as it is being played.

Alcoholism Cannot Be Inherited Yale Professor Tells Parley

EDMONTON (CP)—Alcoholism is a disease but it cannot be transmitted by human reproductive cells, says Dr. Elton Greenberg of Yale University.

Dr. Greenberg, a professor of physiology, told the Alberta Alcoholism Conference Tuesday that the child may be somewhat affected during the prenatal period if the mother is suffering from alcoholism. But only because the mother's general health is affected by her illness.

The disease can in no way be passed to the child either at conception or during the prenatal period, he added.

Dr. Greenberg said there is no relationship between alcoholism and fertility despite the fact that alcoholics on the average have larger families than temperate families.

The explanation, he added, lies in the fact that temperate parents generally exercise more restraint and discretion than alcoholics.

ACQUIRE IN OTHER WAYS

Although alcoholism cannot be inherited, mental defects and traits which may be inherited might cause the child to be more prone to acquiring alcoholism. Also the environment of the home and the upbringing of the child might tend to foster this tendency toward excessive use of alcohol.

Dr. Nelson Bradley, superintendent of the Willmar State Hospital in Willmar, Minn., said if a patient suffers more than one blackout—loss of memory after drinking—then alcoholism is indicated.

"We don't know what blackouts are," he said, "but we do know they are extremely significant in diagnosing alcoholism."

BAD LANGUAGE CHARGED TO DEAF-MUTE

VALETTA, Malta (AP)—Nicola Cascun, 60, who is deaf and dumb, was brought into court Tuesday on charges of using blasphemous language. He may not have said a single word, the court was told, but oh that sign language!

The complaint against Cascun was brought by his brother. He said Nicola threatened him in public and interspersed his threats with some lurid blasphemy, all of it in sign language.

The judge said an impartial expert would have to be found to interpret Nicola's, sign-language version of his sign-language conversation with his irate brother.

Death Claims Builder of Landmarks

A man who worked on construction of Dunsuir Castle and the Roman Catholic Cathedral here, died at his home Monday at the age of 86.

He was Amable Lacoursiere, a resident of Saanich for the past 67 years.

When he first arrived in Victoria in 1888, Mr. Lacoursiere found a job working for contractors who were starting construction on the old Court House.

He worked on the Dunsuir Castle before deciding to start his own business.

He built a workshop on Yates Street and took many jobs, including making artificial limbs and walking sticks.

He worked on the Roman Catholic Cathedral in 1891 and took many other contracting jobs about this area.

Mr. Lacoursiere worked on the Protestant Orphanage in 1890 and helped build the Brentwood Hotel.

WORKED IN CANADA

He did much building contracting in Saanich, built the Sidney post office and repaired the Sidney wharf.

Mr. Lacoursiere, born in Quebec, was one of a family of 16.

He is survived by his wife, Louise; at home; a son, Albert of Wellington, B.C.; two daughters, Mrs. A. (Edna) Broadfoot, 4087 Tuxedo, and Mrs. W. (Holly) Dee, 2213 Spring Road; seven grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Prayers will be offered at the residence on Alec Road, Central Saanich, tonight at 8 p.m.

Mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father L. Leclerc at Our Lady of Assumption Church, West Saanich Road, Thursday at 10 a.m.

Interment will be in the church cemetery, funeral arrangements with Sands Mortuary Ltd.

In China, monkeys once were used to harvest the tea crop.

FLOWER BASKET IDEA BIG VICTORIA EXPORT

"Follow the birds to Victoria and go home with the baskets" soon may be the new tourist slogan for this city. More and more tourists coming here, fascinated by the hanging flower baskets, return to their own cities with the idea of doing something similar there.

Peoria, Illinois, is the latest to be considering the hanging basket idea for beautifying its downtown area.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce today received a request from Mrs. Joclyn Gerry, of the Peoria Journal Star, for information with regard to how one goes about planting flower baskets.

Mrs. Gerry, after a visit to Victoria, suggested to readers of her column, "Adventures in Living," that Peoria follow Victoria's example and decorate its business district with flowers.

Since then the Peoria Women's Civic Federation, which embraces 60 different clubs and has a total membership of some 22,000 women, has adopted the idea as its current project.

CALL FOR TENDERS

BRITISH COLUMBIA POWER COMMISSION

'CHOPPERS' GOT HIM JOB

Starring Film Role Won by False Teeth

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walter Brennan is Hollywood's biggest booster for store-bought teeth.

He's starred in "Goodbye, Mr. Lady," which the Hollywood grapevine already has tabbed a sleeper even before it's finished.

Brennan, only actor to hold three Oscars, usually doesn't comment on how good his role is, but this time he says:

"I've had a lot of good parts in my time but this is the greatest. And I never would have got it if it hadn't been for my Reebucks (false teeth)."

Many a Hollywood actor has false teeth, but Brennan is the only one-un-actorial enough even to be seen-on-the-screen without them.

The story calls for a toothless old man who rears a young boy (Brandon de Wilde) in a swamp home. Phil Harris, playing a backwoods storekeeper, is the only other name in the cast.

For the first time in Hollywood memory the movie is being shot in continuity. Usually movies are made like jig saw puzzles, with no one knowing the end result until all the pieces are put together.

There is no particular reason why this one is being shot in orderly fashion except that it just worked out that way in the shooting script.

That explains why the "sleeper" word got about so quickly. The only other recent picture that hit the grapevine so fast was "Marty."

It's Brennan's first picture for R.A.I. Productions, the John Wayne-Bob Fellows outfit, and also his first for veteran director Bill Wellman.

But it won't be the last.

School Comparison Held Unrealistic

DUNCAN, B.C. (CP)—E. R. Ned Larsen, senior master of Shawngnan Lake Boys' School, said today it would be absurd to attempt to compare the standard of teaching in private and public schools in British Columbia.

At the same time Mr. Larsen denied that he had told Duncan Kiwanis Club that a higher standard of teaching exists in private schools than in public schools.

He was credited with making the statement in a report of his address to the club published August 20.

"Such a statement either way would have been absurd," said Mr. Larsen.

Mr. Larsen said the purpose of his speech was to "examine the prejudice which exists against independent schools to see if it could not be explained and erased, and to show that, if the public schools and the independent schools can co-operate, exchange ideas, and be willing to learn from each other, much more will be accomplished for our young."

UPHOLDS TEACHERS

During his address, Mr. Larsen said people had criticized the independent schools in general as having poor standards of teaching, simply because their teachers for the most part have no values courses in teacher-training initiated by the department of education.

He said "many independent school teachers not only have local degrees, but also have travelled and achieved degrees in countries which have higher academic standards than our own."

Mr. Larsen also said he had not implied that the private school gives a child freedom of choice of course where the public school does not.

"I said that if only public schools existed, controlled as they are by one central department and compelling the parent as they do to accept a prescribed program of studies, the system would be undemocratic. However, I then pointed out, the very existence of the independent schools gives the parents an alternative and therefore a freedom of choice."

Phil Drake Scratched

LONDON (AP)—Phil Drake, winner of the Epsom Derby, was scratched Tuesday from the St. Leger, last of Britain's 1955 horse racing classics.

The French colt owned by Mrs. Suzy Volterra had been rated 10-1 by the bookies for the Sept. 7 race.

A later scratch was Gay Troubadour, rank outsider not quoted in the bookies' call-over odds.

Door-to-Door Seller Held For Sentence

A door-to-door magazine salesman will be sentenced in city police court next Wednesday on a charge of defrauding the public of $159.66.

Harold Kazulak, 34, of Ontario, pleaded guilty to the charge today, which involved 18 offences from Feb. 17 to last Saturday.

He will appear in Saanich police court Thursday on the same charge involving $73.67, and Friday in Oak Bay police court on a charge involving about $88.

Charges will also be laid by Colwood RCMP.

Detective Bill Andrews testified in court today that Kazulak was an authorized salesman for a Vancouver firm when he came to Victoria in February.

He said he took subscriptions on books and turned them over to the Vancouver firm.

Later he bought some receipt books from a local printing shop and took subscriptions and money for various magazines.

He kept the money himself.

Police said the accused had five receipt books when apprehended.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas ordered a probation report for next Wednesday.

Use of Siren By Ambulances Here Checked

Ambulances may use sirens indiscriminately elsewhere on the continent, but not in Victoria.

This came out today on the heels of an article published in the Canadian Services Medical Journal by Dr. Basil C. MacLean, commissioner of the city of New York department of hospitals.

He termed use of sirens "spectacular stupidity."

Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator George Masters agreed. Victoria Ambulance Service, which handles most emergency cases here, never come screaming up to hospital doors.

Time saved by use of sirens was not absolutely essential, said Mr. Masters, as if a life can't be saved within 20 minutes or so, the patient is a gone citizen regardless.

Victoria Ambulance Ltd. co-owner John Carlow said two and three weeks passed without use of sirens. The policy is not to use sirens except in cases where a human life is involved. In these cases, siren use speeds the vehicle going through traffic.

Police ambulance siren use is a bit different, for going to an accident they have no way of knowing how extreme the emergency may be, so they take no chances and go all-out.

Ailing Coroner Feeling Better

Condition of city coroner Dr. E. C. Hart, stricken with an undisclosed illness Monday, was described today by his family as "a little better."

He is resting at his home, 1513 Laurel Lane.

'Big Splash' as Youngsters Practise for Lake Swim

It was practice night Tuesday at Beaver-Elk Lake for the two-mile swim coming up Sept. 5. Youngsters were taken half way out, swam back to shore. Practices are held Tuesday and Thursday nights, starting at 7. In main swim itself, participants will wear white bathing caps, numbered, which will correspond with numbers on accompanying boats carrying inner tubes as life jackets. Victoria City Rowing Club and Eagles will provide rowers, but boats are still needed. Swim sponsor is lake concessionaire Wilfred Sadler. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

200,000 See Spectacular PNE Parade

VANCOUVER, Aug. 24 (BUP)—The most spectacular Pacific National Exhibition parade in Vancouver's history drew an estimated 200,000 onlookers here today. The huge crowd jammed downtown sidewalks and hung from office windows to see the 5½-mile trek to Exhibition Park.

The parade comprised 3,000 marchers, 32 bands and 136 floats. The crowd applauded as the parade and air force units, as well as a contingent from the United States army. Terrific applause was accorded the float from Penitence depicting the world hockey championship V's and there were cheers for members of the B.C. Lions football team who rode in convertibles.

At the saluting base at Post Office corner, were civic and PNE officials, senior officers from the three armed services and officers from the United States forces.

CALYPSO RHYTHMS
A highlight of the parade was a famed calypso band from Trinidad, beating out their rhythms on oil drums.

Crowds later streamed by the thousands into the fair grounds, to see what officials described as "the biggest fair in B.C. history."

The 45th PNE, expected to attract 900,000 visitors before it concludes Sept. 5, was to be officially opened this afternoon by external affairs minister Lester B. Pearson.

HMCS New Glasgow Due Home Thursday

The frigate HMCS New Glasgow is due back at Esquimalt at 7 a.m. Thursday, following a cruise to Pearl Harbor where she worked with units of the U.S. Pacific fleet.

New Glasgow had been scheduled to relieve the destroyer HMCS Sioux, sole Canadian ship in the Far East, until plans were altered on instruction of the Department of External Affairs.

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Egypt today angrily announced her withdrawal from the United Nations-sponsored talks with Israel, aimed at pacifying the embattled frontier area of the Gaza strip.

Thousands Terrorized By Gun-Crazy Airman

Killing of Three Makes Shambles Of English Beach Before Suicide

MANSTON, Kent, Eng. (Reuters)—Thousands of terrified sunbathers today saw a berserk American airman shoot himself to death on a beach near here after he killed a British and two American airmen.

The crazed man, identified by British police as Napoleon Green, a Negro, injured six sunbathers before he was captured against a rocky cliff towering above Broadstairs beach in a dramatic gun battle.

Two U.S. Air Force police opened fire at 100 yards distance when Green refused to surrender. The fugitive, armed with a rifle and a revolver, fired back.

Silence suddenly returned to the sunlit beach contrasting with the whine of bullets, echoed back from the cliffs. Cautiously, the two armed American military police and a British policeman, who was unarmed as is customary, inched forward toward a clump of rocks at the foot of the cliff.

They found their quarry dead. At first U.S. authorities reported Green had been killed by the military police. They later agreed with the British version that the wounded airman had turned one of his guns on himself.

All the dead and injured victims of the berserk airman were shot before he raced out of the U.S. air base in an automobile and headed for the southeast coast resort of Broadstairs a few miles away.

The entire three-mile expanse of beach between Broadstairs and Margate in Kent east of London was cordoned off for the manhunt. Vacationers were warned to get out of the sea and stand well back from the cliffs.

Thousands of Britons peered down from the chalk cliffs to watch the gun battle. Hundreds of others, trapped on the beach, fled from the scene.

Within a short while, however, the sun bathers returned to their deckchairs which had been toppled over in the chase. Children resumed building sand castles, wading and swimming, and the beach returned to its summer serenity.

Col. H. B. Manson, commander of the Manston base, led the manhunt. Every airman on his base was issued with arms and every camp door heavily guarded.

The wild chase began at the air base. A USAF statement said the berserk airman's first victim was an American sergeant, killed near the supply room. The airman next killed an RAF serviceman inside the main entrance of the base and wounded a man and woman entering the base in an automobile.

At the entrance gates, he wounded two air force policemen and two other airmen, then fled.

One of those shot at the gate—another American—died in hospital shortly after. Two British girl secretaries were among the wounded.

Armed Americans climbed over the seafront jetties at Margate as holidaymakers pointed out the path taken by the fugitive, who had a 15-round carbine slung over his shoulder.

Screaming mothers pulled their children from the sea as police shouted: "Keep away from that man. He's armed and dangerous."

Guaranteed Wage
VANCOUVER (CP)—Another in the growing list of guaranteed annual wage contracts has been won by a Vancouver union—but this time for only three workers.

They are members of AFL Street Railwaymen's Union who work for Canadian Car and Bus Advertising Ltd. and put up advertising cards in buses and trolley coaches.

DEEP SOUTH DISCOLORS ITS WAVES

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A white cab driver was fined $5 on a city by-law for allowing a Negro service woman to ride in his taxi with several white servicewomen. Police said they saw several WAVES, one of them a Negro, riding together in the cab.

Pat Russell To Try Strait Tomorrow

Vancouver's part Pat Russell plans her second attempt at Juan de Fuca Strait for 12:30 p.m. Thursday from Gonzales Point.

She will be the first, weather permitting, of six swimmers hoping to make tries this weekend or before the end of August.

Pat, 18-year-old UBC student, made her first try June 3, and swam 9½ miles toward Port Angeles before she was pulled from the water exhausted.

Tuesday she completed a three and a half hour swim in Oak and Cadboro Bays, the last of her heavy practices.

Janice White, 19, Toronto, said Tuesday night she would like to make her third attempt Saturday. Others in the August swim are Bob Bowden, Johnny Flower, Bill Muir and Douglas Rivette, all of whom have made at least one try, with the exception of Flower.

WIFE LOWERS BOOM

Auto Striker Gets Locked Out

CHICAGO (AP)—An enraged housewife has threatened to divorce her idle husband if his company is forced to go out of business because of a strike.

Mrs. Esther Quigley, 35, said in an interview she issued the ultimatum to her husband, Andrew, a steward for Local 1214 of the United Auto Workers Union (CIO) representing 450 employees of the Harrison Sheet Steel Co.

She said today: "If the company closes its doors permanently, I'll close my doors permanently."

Mrs. Quigley said she has organized a group of 45 women seeking to end the strike.

She already has locked her 220-pound husband out of their house. She said she spent Monday night in a hotel after her husband refused to leave. But when she returned Tuesday morning, she said, "You go or I go," and started packing. Her husband went.

Cloud-Seeder Says Hurricanes Can Be Steered

Early Experiment Caused Damage Of $5 Million

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir, pioneer cloud seeder, said today he is confident that experimentation with dry-ice seeding could "completely eliminate such hurricanes as the one that hit Diane."

Langmuir said the armed forces apparently changed the course of a 1947 hurricane with $7.20 worth of dry ice. He said they were so frightened by the result they never dared try it again.

That hurricane, whether by nature or mis-fired experiment, immediately changed course and caused some $5,000,000 damage in Savannah, Ga., Langmuir said.

But he said he believed that if that hadn't caused cancellation of the test continued experimentation would almost surely have prevented this year's hurricane catastrophes.

Langmuir is a General Electric Company research consultant, Nobel Prize winner and a father of dry-ice rainmaking.

Strike Hits Fruit Crop In Okanagan

Investigator Reveals He Was Whelan's Friend

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Examples of typing from two typewriters on which ex-RCMP sergeant Terry Parsloe wrote a secret report in 1950 clearing police chief Walter H. Mulligan of graft charges were submitted today to the Royal commission inquiry into the Vancouver police department.

The samples were submitted for examination by RCMP counterfeiting experts after lawyer Neil Fleishman, counsel for Flash magazine, demanded the samples be produced following his suggestion that Parsloe did not write the report. Parsloe had denied this.

Continuing his testimony today, Parsloe said, "I have thought it over very carefully and I think I typed the report on my office machine."

Studying the samples, Fleishman said, "I ask that Parsloe's report as well as his typed expense sheet for the investigation be examined by RCMP experts."

'VERY GOOD FRIEND'

Parsloe said he was "a very good friend" of police superintendent Harry Whelan, who died August 5 a few hours before he was to testify before royal commissioner R. H. Tupper.

Questioned further by Fleishman about a section of his report reading, "I have worked with a number of underworld contacts over a period of years," Parsloe said he still could not recall the name of a single one of them.

Fleishman asked, "You cannot recall one agent, contact, name, individual, or member of the underworld despite the fact you worked with them over a period of years?"

Parsloe answered, "No." Parsloe also admitted he failed to report on his income tax returns the money he received for the investigation. "I got $1,700 for that report and I paid out about $700," Parsloe said. "That left me with $1,000. I did not declare that in my income tax report."

(See Tuesday testimony, Page 22).

Breakdown in Talks Revealed By Wicks; Work Stops Thursday

Last-ditch negotiations—including personal intervention by Premier Bennett—aimed at halting a strike of 3,000 fruit packing-house workers in B.C.'s Okanagan Valley broke down in Victoria today, and a strike is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock Thursday morning.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks announced the collapse of truce talks at noon, following a series of morning meetings with representatives of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, and the Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Union (AFL-TLC).

"The parties have agreed to disagree," said Mr. Wicks.

30 PLANTS IDLED
The strike will idle 30 packing houses, and hit 3,500 Okanagan Valley fruit growers at the height of their soft-fruit harvesting operations.

Mr. Wicks said the two parties reached a compromise on five of six points in the months-long dispute during talks in his office.

However, the union is reported to have stood firm on its demand for a 10-cent an hour across-the-board wage increase.

PREMIER REBUFFED

In a meeting in Premier Bennett's office, the union turned down the premier's suggestion that he appoint an arbitrator to settle the dispute.

"They have gone their separate ways, and the strike is scheduled to start at eight in the morning," said the labor minister. He added that the government "will be available at all times" if the two parties want to resume negotiations.

A. R. Garrish of Oliver, in the southern Okanagan, spokesman for the Fruit Growers' Association, has stated the union will be charged with "violation of contracts" if the walk-out takes place.

Potatoes Up

KELOWNA (CP)—Officials of the interior vegetable marketing board have announced an increase in the price of potatoes, effective last Monday. The price of potatoes has been raised $3 a ton to a selling price of $35 a ton.

Faure Faces Revolt Over Morocco Riot

Right-Wingers Want Parliament Called

PARIS (UP)—Rightwing members of Premier Edgar Faure's parliament majority revolted today and demanded that he call parliament back from its recess to consider the bloody uprisings in French North Africa.

The emergency recall of the national assembly was demanded after Faure had flown here from urgent conferences at Aix-Les-Bains with Moroccan political leaders and members of his cabinet.

The rebellious deputies, who fear Faure will make too many concessions to Moroccan Nationalists, claim to control 208 deputies in Faure's coalition.

Their defection could shake and even topple his six-month-old government.

Earlier in the day Faure called up 60,000 reserves to help stem the bloody North African outbreaks which have cost more than 1,700 lives in Morocco and Algeria.

Faure will discuss the North African situation with French military leaders before returning to Aix-Les-Bains tonight.

Interior Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury today recommended that Faure send six new battalions to Algeria, extend the state of emergency to the whole country and better arm the police there.

35 STATES, NINE PROVINCES

Record Registration For Convention Here

The annual convention of the National Association of Securities Administrators next week has drawn the largest registration in the 38-year history of the association.

J. Stewart Smith, B.C. superintendent of brokers, who is convention chairman, said today the registration has reached a total of 450 for the Vancouver meetings Monday and Tuesday, with 400 coming to Victoria for Thursday and Friday meetings. This includes wives of delegates.

"The representatives seem very keen to come out and see what we have on Canada's Pacific coast," Mr. Smith said.

It is the first time the convention has ever been held outside the United States, and the third time on the west coast.

Delegates will represent securities administration branches of 35 of the United States, provincial securities heads of all Canadian provinces except Prince Edward Island, and the federal security authorities of both countries, besides some of the continent's most influential financial houses and legal firms dealing in "blue sky" legislation.

The convention opens in Vancouver Monday for two days. Delegates then cross to Victoria by special boat to complete their deliberations in two days of meetings at Empress Hotel.

Some of the notables scheduled to address various functions during the convention are W. A. Schmidt, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America; Don Eastwood, Attorney-General of Washington State; Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, and W. P. J. O'Meara, assistant undersecretary of state for Canada.

J. STEWART SMITH

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, and Premier W. A. C. Bennett will address delegates during the Vancouver and Victoria sessions, respectively.

C. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, will make the major address here on Thursday, September 1.

Highlight of the important convention will be the presentation of a draft Uniform Securities Act, prepared by Professor Louis Loss, of the Harvard Law School.

While in Victoria, the delegates will hold an open forum on the draft legislation, which was two years in preparation.
